Coping with Conflict After the Cold War Edward A. Kolodziej, Roger E. Kanet, 1996 This volume provides answers to the question of how the international community might cope with armed conflict after the Cold War It identifies key actors states and international organizations that have the resources and potentially the will to address the problems of continuing violence and enduring conflicts The book also evaluates the roles and strategies that might be adopted by these actors unilaterally or cooperatively to ease or end such armed struggles The authors review the role of the United States Russia Japan and China all of which have the potential to play constructive roles in resolving conflicts They also explore the contributions that the United Nations the European Community and other transnational organizations can make to building a more peaceful and secure world Instead of appealing to grand theory as a guide for coping the authors conclude different mixes of actors resources roles and strategies will have to be fashioned to meet the special needs of each conflict Coping is viewed as an international imperative and not as the responsibility or prerogative of any one actor The volume will be of interest to anyone concerned with international relations international organizations and security issues Contributors are Arthur J Alexander Mohammed Ayoub Nicole Ball Paul F Diehl Roger E Kanet Samuel S Kim Edward A Kolodziej Edward J Laurence David F Linowes Patrick M Morgan Jack Snyder Janice Gross Stein and I William Zartman
