

COGNOS User-Defined Prompts and Maps User Guide

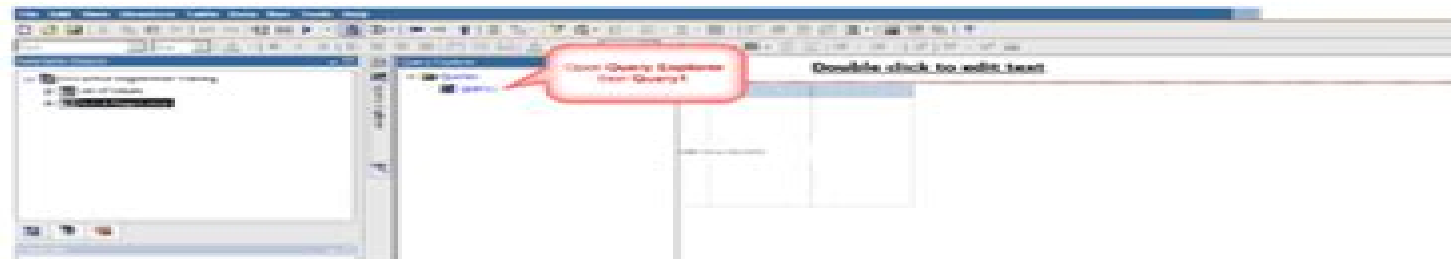

Introduction

This user guide will walk you through the steps of creating a user-defined prompt and maps in Cognos. The package we are using for this user guide is not open to the public, but is a genuine example of packages in Cognos. We are using this package because it contains address information, which will be used for creating a map.

A user-defined prompt is a prompt where the report author can create his or her own prompt values.

Insert Data Items

The first step in creating a report is to insert the data items you want to use in your report. In this example, we will be using both the Academic Study and KSU Address Slot from the KSU Active Registration Training package.

We have felt this ourselves: to train our colleagues in the secrets of Cognos TM1 takes time and effort. Our intention is to increase the speed of the diffusion of Cognos TM1 into the business world. For this, of course, marketing is necessary, but good and comprehensive knowledge is more important. So we want to provide everything that is necessary to work with Cognos TM1 effectively, or at least what we think is necessary to work with it. The obvious question is: why hasn't there been a book about Cognos TM1 before now? Perhaps Cognos TM1 has been a tool for insiders. You definitely need critical mass for a book project. However, with Cognos TM1 becoming part of the IBM software family, the time is right: the first comprehensive book is now available.
