

The background of the image is a close-up of several red rose petals scattered across a piece of aged, yellowed sheet music. The sheet music features various musical notations, including staves with notes and clefs. The petals are in various stages of being crushed or torn, with some showing the inner structure. The lighting is warm, creating a soft, romantic atmosphere. The text is overlaid on the upper portion of the image, with the author's name at the top and the title below it in a large, stylized font.

Beatrice's Commonsensical Approach Maureen Mitson, 2015-07-21 Two women stepped from the steamship Orient onto Australian soil on a hot December day in 1879 Beatrice Beauchamp epitomises the younger middle class English woman settler unused to the unpleasant Yet she combats tragedy and meets challenge and difference with a level of equanimity not commonly expected from one with a genteel upbringing We share her despair and her fears as from the first day she must call on a personal strength and resolve previously untested In that she finds a staunch supporter in Mary Lee Mrs Mary Lee has been written into many history books Her political conviction dedication and determination in campaigning for women's rights led to her being acknowledged by Premier Kingston as most influential in gaining South Australian women the right to vote and not only that to take a seat in Parliament Other states followed suit Yet despite all her achievements little has been known of her personal life Elizabeth Mansutti former Chairperson of the SA Writers Centre local historian author poet playwright and author of Mary Lee Let her name be honoured which inspired this novel writes Mary Lee was described by a contemporary as fiery I suspect that in Beatrice she found an acquaintance of similar ilk and by framing that partnership in this story the author creates the vehicle for satisfying our curiosity about Mary Lee and her significant social contribution I think it a clever move that is complemented by the finely drawn descriptions of the colonial society of that period Reading

Iris Murdoch's Metaphysics as a Guide to Morals Nora Hämäläinen, Gillian Dooley, 2019-06-01 Metaphysics as a Guide to Morals was Iris Murdoch's major philosophical testament and a highly original and ambitious attempt to talk about our time Yet in the scholarship on her philosophical work thus far it has often been left in the shade of her earlier work This volume brings together 16 scholars who offer accessible readings of chapters and themes in the book connecting them to Murdoch's larger oeuvre as well as to central themes in 20th century and contemporary thought The essays bring forth the strength originality and continuing relevance of Murdoch's late thought addressing among other matters her thinking about the Good the role and nature of metaphysics in the contemporary world the roles of art in human understanding questions of unity and plurality in thinking the possibilities of spiritual life without God and questions of style and sensibility in intellectual work

Gastrospaces Matteo Bonotti, Andrea Borghini, Nicola Piras, Beatrice Serini, 2024-09-02 This book explores the moral and political significance of gastrospaces the spaces where we eat It adopts an innovative approach combining analytic political philosophy and analytic ontology to lay down the theoretical foundations for a multi and interdisciplinary research agenda on the complex interconnections between food and space Social science and humanities scholars have studied the ties between food consumption and space from multiple angles This book sets up a different and more foundational approach which engages with these bodies of work and integrates them into a coherent framework While taking the reader through a theoretical journey of varying complexities the book also illustrates the social political and cultural significance of gastrospace by surveying an array of examples from diverse historical and geographical contexts It then draws on political philosophy to show that gastrospace are sites of justice and injustice and complements this analysis by developing an ontological model for gastrospace that facilitates a systematic analysis of their social political and cultural significance The book ends with a toolbox for the study of gastrospace that different stakeholders may apply to their respective contexts of intervention This book will appeal to philosophers political scientists food scholars geographers and anyone interested in the intersection between food and space By focusing on a wide range of real world topics related to gastrospace such as racist dress codes family friendly restaurants speakeasies and gendered kitchen designs the book will also be of interest to nonacademic stakeholders such as urban planners policymakers designers managers and consumers

Aesthetics, Disinterestedness, and Effectiveness in Political Art Maria-Alina Asavei, 2018-09-15 Should politically concerned and engaged artistic production disregard questions or requirements of aesthetic reception and value Whether art should be aesthetic or political is not a new question Therefore in spite of those several contemporary approaches of this issue the answer is not set in stone and the debate is still going on This volume aims to broaden these debates and it stems from numerous conversations with politically engaged artists and artist collectives on issues related to the aesthetization of politics versus the politicization of art as well as the phenomenon of the so called unhealthy aestheticism in political art Thus this study has three interrelated aims Firstly it aims to offer an interdisciplinary account of the relationship between art and politics and between aesthetics and the political Secondly it attempts to explore what exactly makes artistic production a strong yet neglected field of political critique when democratic political agency history from below and identity politics are threatened Finally to illuminate the relationship between critical political theory on the one hand and the philosophy of art on the other by highlighting artworks moral political and epistemic abilities to reveal criticize problematize and intervene politically in our political reality
