'HANNIBAL' AND 'SHERLOCK': SUPERIORITY OF CHARACTER DEVELOPMENT

Some TV shows gain such immense popularity that almost everyone has heard of them. 'Hannibal' and 'Sherlock' are a good example of this phenomenon. They are both critically acclaimed as well as character-focused shows, but their quality differs, which can be seen on the development of Will Graham and John Watson respectively. Character development in 'Hannibal' TV show is more realistic than that in 'Sherlock' because the protagonists act more consistently and the end-goal of their growth corresponds to what was implied at the beginning.

Protagonists in 'Hannibal' behave more consistently than they do in 'Sherlock'. From the first season of 'Hannibal', Graham is portrayed as person who wants to be good but who is murderer at heart. Watson, on the contrary, is shown as hero who can kill another person but who is always motivated by noble goals. Later, though, while Graham becomes darker with each subsequent season, Watson loses his ideals. He turns unrecognizable without any apparent reason. When he was ready to sacrifice everything for his partner Sherlock before, eventually, he joyfully beats him up when he is weakened physically. This way, Will's development is consistent while that of John has no logical basis.

Development of these characters can be traced throughout all seasons, but at the end of both shows, they arrive at different points. Graham becomes full-fledged murderer who can no longer hide that he enjoys killing, which corresponds to initial idea of 'Hannibal' introduced back at its start. Unlike him, Watson regresses. Instead of becoming more noble and mature as it was implied in the first seasons of 'Sherlock', he suddenly turns into monster who is incapable of critical thinking, forgives murder of innocents, engages in brutality. Thus, 'Hannibal' fulfilled its goal regarding character development while 'Sherlock' forgot about its own plans.

Both 'Hannibal' and 'Sherlock' are interesting shows but the former is superior. Its characters are more believable and stay true with its initial ideas. Therefore, 'Hannibal' does considerably better job in developing its protagonists.

Anthropological Essays Oscar Lewis,1970 Savonarola, Erasmus, and Other Essays Henry Hart Milman,1870 Contract Law Without Foundations Prince Saprai,2019-02-28 This book advances a theoretical account of contract law grounded in value pluralism Arguing against attempts to delineate branches of legal doctrine by reference to single unifying values the book suggests that a field such as contract law can only be explained and justified by the interaction of a multiplicity of moral values In recent times the philosophy of contract law has been dominated by the promise theory according to which the morality of promise provides a blueprint for the structure shape and content that contract law rules and doctrines should take The promise theory is an example of what this book calls a foundationalist theory whereby areas of law reflect or are underlain by particular moral principles or sets of such principles By considering contract law from the point of view of its theory rules and doctrines and broader political context the book argues that the promise theory can only ever offer part of the picture The book claims that top down theories of contract law such as the promise theory and its bitter rival the economic analysis of law seriously mishandle legal doctrine by ignoring or underplaying the irreducible plurality of values that shape contract law The book defends the role of this multiplicity of values in forging contract doctrine by developing from the ground up a radical and distinctly republican reinterpretation of the field The book encourages readers to move away from a top down theory of contract law such as the promise theory and instead embrace a distinctly republican approach to contract law that would justify the legal rules and doctrines we find in particular jurisdictions at particular times
