Passage One: Compare/Contrast

Name: _____

Facts and opinions are two types of statements that give information. A fact is something true that you can prove. The United States is made up of 50 states. You can prove that fact by looking at a map. An opinion is something a person feels, feels or believes. Opinions can vary, so for different, from person to person. A resident of California may think their state's mountains and beaches are the most beautiful in the country. Someone in another state may believe their state's forests and lakes offer the most natural beauty. You can see both facts and opinions when writing about reports. Opinions can be shared in persuasive writing when the author is trying to convince the reader to believe in a certain point of view. Facts add important detail to an informational report.

What two things can you compare and contrast from this passage?

A Venn diagram consisting of two overlapping circles. The left circle is labeled "Facts" and the right circle is labeled "Opinions". The overlapping area in the center is labeled "Both".

Passage One: Comprehension

Name: _____

Two different bodies of water that you can find on a map are rivers and oceans. Oceans are vast and surround continents. They cover 70% of the Earth's surface. Rivers are smaller than oceans. They are long and usually flow from land into the oceans. River water stays fresh because it continuously gets fresh water from rain and streams. Ocean water is salty, because as water flows from plants to oceans, it picks up salt from rocks and soil along the way. The reason is the last step for water coming from rivers, so this is why oceans stay salty. Humans can only drink fresh water. Too much salt makes humans sick. Many ocean animals are used to the saltiness and can safely drink it. Both rivers and oceans are found in a large variety of animals. Animals that can live in both salt and fresh water are salmon and eels.

What does vast mean? Are rivers as vast as oceans?

Why can ocean animals drink salt water but not humans?

How do oceans become salty?

What percent of the Earth is made up of oceans?
