Language Arts and Literacy in the Middle Grades Margaret J. Finders, Susan Hynds, 2007 From two prominent scholars in the field of literacy comes a middle school teacher preparation text that offers important innovations not usually found in traditional secondary methods texts The book is rife with concrete examples of teaching literacy and language arts in middle school contexts but is relevant to preservice and practicing teachers at middle and high school levels This edition includes a stronger focus on culturally relevant pedagogy and the needs of English Language Learners as well as a Standards in Practice feature which helps teachers incorporate state and national standards in teaching and planning The book is based on a teacher as inquirer model A fieldwork component provides tools for classroom inquiry and reflection in each chapter The book is timely and relevant with classroom cases written by experienced and new middle school language arts teachers

Corpus Linguistics Beyond the Word, 2015-07-14 This volume will be of particular interest to readers interested in expanding the applications of corpus linguistics techniques through new tools and approaches The text includes selected papers from the Fifth North American Symposium hosted by the Linguistics Department at Montclair State University in Montclair New Jersey in May 2004 The symposium papers represented several areas of corpus studies including language development syntactic analysis pragmatics and discourse language change register variation corpus creation and annotation and practical applications of corpus work primarily in language teaching but also in medical training and machine translation A common thread through most of the papers was the use of corpora to study domains longer than the word. Not surprisingly, fully half of the papers deal with the computational tools and linguistic strategies needed to search for and analyze these longer spans of language, while most of the remaining papers examine particular syntactic and rhetorical properties of one or more corpora.

Applied Literacy in the Middle Grades Lawrence G. Erickson, 2003. This book describes ways of teaching children to employ their reading, writing, listening, and speaking skills to access, assess, and communicate information. Applied Literacy in the Middle Grades addresses the needs of middle school reading courses. This much-needed book focuses on and is intended for classroom teachers, offering a rich source of real classroom applications. Erickson provides superb ideas about motivating students, meeting state learning goals, teaching critical thinking, and evaluating primary and secondary sources of information. A goldmine of detailed material from actual classrooms, grades 5-8, helps illustrate literacy activities in science, language arts, and social sciences. Additional key topics include inquiring, teaching thematic units, schoolwork connections, literacy and content areas, and accountability. Middle school teachers, curriculum developers, literacy coordinators, and school administrators.

Middle School Journal, 2002. Computers, Curriculum, and Cultural Change Jr. Provenzo, 2004-09-22. Computers, Curriculum, and Cultural Change: An Introduction for Teachers, Second Edition, is a comprehensive introduction to using computers in educational settings. What distinguishes this text from others on the topic is its focus on the issue of how computers are redefining our culture and society and the work of schools: the idea of using the computer as a tool for increasing efficiency and productivity in curriculum and the concept of the computer as a tool not only for efficiency but actually as a means of enhancing intelligence. This text provides students with an introduction to basic computer skills and experience enhanced by helpful pedagogical aids, including case studies and highlighted features such as Portfolio Development, Reflective Practice, Computing Timelines, Filmographies, bibliographical sources, and a text-linked glossary of key computer terms. New in the Second Edition: In addition to being thoroughly updated, a new section has been added to Chapter 1, "Creating an Electronic Portfolio," with activities linked to the standards for educational computing established by the International Society for Technology in Education (ISTE). Electronic portfolio activities at the end of each chapter give students the hands-on practical skills they need and, at the same time, cover the necessary theoretical and conceptual material for an introductory educational computing course.

Tween Crayons and Curfews Heather Wolpert-Gawron, 2013-10-02. Teach Well: Be Happy. In this book, Heather Wolpert-Gawron, author of the popular education blog Tweenteacher, shares ideas for teaching an age group that too often presents a challenge for educators. With sparkling humor and a unique fundamental understanding of the middle children of education, the award-winning teacher offers tried and true strategies for creating a tween-centric classroom environment, building community in the middle school classroom, encouraging deeper thinking and curiosity among tweens, understanding and informing tweens about how they learn, conversational and practical. This book aims to motivate and inspire middle school teachers as they work to engage their students, instruct with rigor, and improve their own experiences as Tweenteachers      Parenting for High Potential ,2001      Teaching for Comprehending and Fluency Irene C. and rewarding learning experiences that will then be stored in long term memory rather than deleted or filtered out

Using Children's Literature Across the Curriculum Catherine M. O'Callaghan, 2011 This resource uniquely offers preservice and inservice teachers templates for using quality children's literature to implement six themes across grades K-8. The themes are based on national curriculum standards and text sets are carefully selected to facilitate discussion, analysis, and problem solving across the grades. Using Children's Literature Across the Curriculum provides teachers with a guide to using multilayered texts to facilitate students' attainment of critical literacy. It is designed to be a supplemental text to guide teachers in designing literacy instruction. The instructional sequence includes collaborative inquiry activities across the curriculum to extend each theme to math, science, technology, and social studies. Teachers are shown how to incorporate family literacy with a component entitled Home School Connections and to differentiate instruction for individual learners with a section entitled On Your Own Activities. The theme concludes with a critical literacy activity that applies the content knowledge of the theme with collaborative inquiry. A unique feature of the handbook is the emphasis on performance-based assessment with each instructional sequence containing two rubrics for the teacher to implement. The instructional sequences are meant as models for teachers to use in developing their own themes in order to facilitate critical literacy. These models can be adjusted to fit the reading level of the students as teachers become more familiar with the text's structure and their students' needs.

Seamless Assessment in Science Sandra K. Abell, Mark J. Volkmann, 2006 This is a one-stop guide for assessing students' science learning and incorporating methods for embedding formative and summative assessment throughout any science unit.
