

Edith Stein (St. Teresa Benedicta), 1891-1942.

Personal Story:

Born in Breslau (then part of German empire, now in Poland) into a religious Jewish family. Her father died when she was young; her mother emphasized education and had a strong faith which Stein found inspiring. Nonetheless as a teenager she became an atheist. Later she converted to Catholicism, partly due to her experiences of the horrors of WW I (in which she served as an auxiliary nurse), and her reading (on a summer vacation) of the writings of the Spanish mystic and Carmelite nun, Teresa of Avila.

As a student, she studied with and was greatly influenced by Edmund Husserl. She received her Phd. from Freiburg University, but was not allowed to receive her habilitation (a qualification needed to become a professor), because she was a woman.

In 1933, she became a Discalced Carmelite nun. Because of her Jewish ethnicity, the order sent her (and her sister, a lay nun), to the Netherlands to be safe. However, in retaliation to the Dutch bishops' condemnation of Nazi racism, all Jewish converts to Catholicism in the Netherlands were rounded up. Both Stein and her sister were sent to Auschwitz, where they were murdered by lethal gas.

She was canonized as a saint by Pope John Paul II, in 1998.

In Stein's writings, you will find a very high-powered metaphysician at work, someone at a depth both with modern and medieval philosophy. Prolific: she wrote many works on metaphysics, epistemology, phenomenology, feminism, ethics, spirituality, even translated Thomas Aquinas.

Philosophical Influences:

German phenomenology- student of Edmund Husserl

Scholastic philosophy- Thomas Aquinas, Duns Scotus

Augustine- in the tradition of Augustine's fides quaerens intellectum

Stein is a nice contrast with Sartre. Both are very much modern philosophers, drawing especially on the phenomenological philosophy of Continental Europe in the 20th century.

Phenomenology:

Phenomenology is a school of philosophy founded in the early 20th century by Edmund Husserl and Martin Heidegger. The main thing it studies is the mind's "intentional" relationship to the world, as well as the "essences" of intentional consciousness and the experienced world. It criticized the common view in modern philosophers such as Descartes (the Rationalists), the

Benedict de Spinoza H. F. Hallett, 2013-11-07 This book is intended for the use of the candid student devised as a monitory preparation for deeper study of the philosophy of Spinoza By its means it is hoped that the student may avoid the chief pitfalls of Spinoza interpretation and be carried past many of the difficulties encountered by the modern mind in the study of his writings To this end perhaps the greatest hindrance to be met by the beginner is the popular exposition that attempts to expound the thought of one age in terms of the favoured categories of another By providing the necessary safeguards against misinterpretations arising from such causes the author has sought to awaken interest in the closely knit fabric of Spinoza's doctrine of man and nature and God and its practical import and thus to revivify a specimen too long deprived of its native air

The Shattering of Loneliness Erik Varden,2018-09-20 The experience of loneliness is as universal as hunger or thirst Because it affects us more intimately we are less inclined to speak of it But who has not known its gnawing ache The fear of loneliness causes anguish It prompts reckless deeds To this every age has borne witness No voice is more insidious than the one that whispers in our ear You are irredeemably alone no light will pierce your darkness The fundamental statement of Christianity is to convict that voice of lying The Christian condition unfolds within the certainty that ultimate reality the source of all that is is a personal reality of communion no metaphysical abstraction Men and women made in the image and likeness of God bear the mark of that original communion stamped on their being When our souls and bodies cry out for Another it is not a sign of sickness but of health A labour of potential joy is announced We are reminded of what we have it in us to become That our labour may be fruitful Scripture repeatedly exhorts us to remember The remembrance enjoined is partly introspective and existential partly historical for the God who took flesh to redeem our loneliness leaves traces in history This book examines six facets of Christian remembrance complementing biblical exegesis with readings from literature ancient and modern It aims to be an essay in theology At the same time it proposes a grounded reflection on what it means to be a human being
