

Unlawful detainer actions are often used if one of the following happens:

- The tenant does not vacate the rental unit after the lease ends.
- The tenant has unpaid rent.
- The landlord cancels the lease or rental agreement.

A landlord may also seek an unlawful detainer when a tenant's guest has stayed on the property too long. To avoid this dispute, long-term guests may instead apply to join the lease as official roommates.

An unlawful detainer requires a special court process and can move quickly through the court system.

Unlawful Detainer Process

The steps in an unlawful detainer action are precise. If the landlord or property owner makes a mistake, they must start over.

Below is a step-by-step overview of how landlords seek an unlawful detainer:

1. Serve the eviction notice. Most notices give the tenant a three-day or 30-day notice. This starts the eviction process.
2. If the tenant does not vacate the premises during the notice period, then the landlord can pay a filing fee to file an unlawful detainer action (complaint).
3. The tenant must file an answer to the complaint or risk default judgment.
4. Both parties appear in court. If the judge favors the landlord, the court will issue a writ of possession. The court may also assess attorney fees against the tenant.

The landlord can give the writ to local law enforcement to forcibly remove the tenant from the rental property. Once law enforcement removes the tenant, the landlord regains possession of the property (rental unit).

Or, the tenant might successfully defend against eviction. If the judge favors the tenant, the landlord will not be able to force removal.
