Chapter 11 Questions

1. What happens to the D.H.C?
 - The director decides to resign his position because the shame of being a father is too great.
2. Why do people not want to see Linda? What is the plan for her? How does John react?
 - They consider Linda repulsive because of her age, her bad teeth, and her weight. She takes soma in excess, both to enjoy the euphoric feelings and to feel like a member of civilized society, in hopes to remove herself from the judgment and looks of the repugnance of the other members of society. John worries about her but receives assurance that she's happier with soma even though she won't live much longer if she keeps taking so much.
3. How does Bernard become such an important and popular figure? What do people say about Bernard behind his back?
 - Bernard immediately becomes famous because he controls the Savage's social schedule. Bernard takes advantage of his fame to get as many women as he can. He holds parties for the social elites to visit and meet the Savage. Watson and others disapprove of Bernard's boastfulness and pride. They agree that Bernard's behavior will one day lead "to a bad end"
4. What word does Bernard omit in his letters to Mond? Why?
 - The word "mother"; He doesn't want to offend Mond.
5. Why does John seem more impressed by Shakespeare than the advanced society he is shown?
 - By visiting worksites and participating in the world's social elements, John becomes increasingly disillusioned with his surroundings. Shakespeare was a genius at invoking passion and emotion, whereas society has virtually destroyed these feelings. This disconnect creates a series of serious misunderstandings between John and the rest of society since John struggles to develop his emotions while everyone else struggles to stifle their feelings.
6. What makes John's repeating "brave new world" different in the context of this chapter?
 - "O brave new world that has such people in it." He isn't in awe or feeling excited, he says it in irony because he thinks that the people of Brave New World are weird and feels disconnected from the rest of this society.
7. What is John's experience at Eton? Why doesn't Eton teach Shakespeare?
 - John feels very displaced at Eton after seeing Alpha children laugh at a film of
