When Race Trumps Merit Heather Mac Donald, 2023-04-18 Does your workplace have too few black people in top jobs It s racist Does the advanced math and science high school in your city have too many Asians It s racist Does your local museum employ too many white women It s racist too After the Black Lives Matter protests of 2020 prestigious American institutions from the medical profession to the fine arts pleaded guilty to systemic racism How else explain why blacks are overrepresented in prisons and underrepresented in C suites and faculty lounges their leaders asked The official answer for those disparities is disparate impact a once obscure legal theory that is now transforming our world Any traditional standard of behavior or achievement that impedes exact racial proportionality in any enterprise is now presumed racist Medical school admissions tests expectations of scientific accomplishment in the award of research grants the enforcement of the criminal law all are under assault because they have a disparate impact on underrepresented minorities When Race Trumps Merit provides an alternative explanation for those racial disparities It is large academic skills gaps that cause the lack of proportional representation in our most meritocratic organizations and large differences in criminal offending that account for the racially disproportionate prison population The need for such a corrective argument could not be more urgent Federal science agencies now treat researchers skin color as a scientific qualification Museums and orchestras choose which art and music to promote based on race Police officers avoid making arrests and prosecutors decline to bring charges to avoid disparate impact on minority criminals When Race Trumps Merit breaks powerful taboos But it is driven by a sense of alarm supported by detailed case studies of how disparate impact thinking is jeopardizing scientific progress destroying public order and poisoning the appreciation of art and culture As long as alleged racism remains the only allowable explanation for racial differences we will continue tearing down excellence and putting lives as well as civilizational achievement at risk Exiting the Extraordinary Frances V. Moulder, 2015-11-11 This book is an exploratory study in sociological perspective of the process of returning to the ordinary world after extraordinary experiences Some people have transformative experiences in life that are so extraordinary that they cannot be at all adequately explained to those who have not had such experiences Experiences of this sort include being in military combat participating in great social movements revolutions or terrorist activities being incarcerated in concentration camps the Gulag and prisons surviving collective disasters such as floods or hurricanes serving in intelligence agencies and undercover roles being a member of unusual religious groups working as a journalist in war zones carrying out aid work in impoverished or war torn regions and enduring slavery The book discusses the commonalities among extraordinary experiences why people are so profoundly changed by them the typical challenges faced by returnees and some typical strategies returnees have followed in order to deal with these challenges A central theme of the book is that returnees are challenged not simply by experiencing extreme events but by a great cultural divide between the extraordinary and the ordinary worlds The struggles of returnees need to be seen as a social issue rather than simply the private troubles of individuals The book is based on personal accounts by returnees interviews and secondary sources and contains many lively examples both historical and contemporary of the struggles and triumphs of those who go through extraordinary experiences and return to life in the ordinary world Public Administration Marc Holzer, Richard W.
