Constant Vigilance Raf Regiment In The Burma Campaign:

Constant Vigilance Nigel W.M. Warwick, 2014-09-19 The RAF Regiment was created in the early years of World War II for the active dedicated defense of RAF airfields and installations This book concerns the Regiments operational history in South east Asia Command and draws on the diaries and recollections of the men who served in that theatre It is strongly supported by maps and diagrams from official records The Regiment played a vital and significant role in the two major battles for Burma Imphal and Meiktila The struggle at Imphal ranks alongside Stalingrad and Alamein in its significance for the defeat of the Axis From humble beginnings the Regiment in Burma had by 1945 become a highly trained specialist ground force capable of defensive and offensive action The successes of the 14th Army were founded on the support of the transport fighter and bomber squadrons The RAF could not have done this as effectively without the confidence that its airfields and vital installations were safe under the constant vigilance of the RAF Regiment

Slim Chance: The Pivotal Role Of Air Mobility In The Burma Campaign Major Derek M. Salmi, 2015-11-06 This study applies lessons learned from air mobility s pivotal role in Field Marshal Sir William Slim s World War II Burma campaign to contemporary air mobility operations The author begins by tracing the evolution of air mobility from its pre World War I roots to the Second World War noting how its development proceeded despite the lack of coherent codified doctrine Next the author assesses Slim s Burma campaign and how the key elements of organization training and leadership apart from air mobility proved critical to Allied victory Building upon this the discussion turns to air mobility s contributions to Slim s joint campaign From this analysis the author identifies the tenets of air superiority organization and air mobility normalization as being critical and enduring airpower lessons from the Burma theater The closing chapters offer a primer on contemporary mobility operations before arguing that modern air mobility practitioners must account for five key essentials superiority across the air and space domains proper organization that promotes relationship building at the operational level of war normalization of the complete air mobility supply chain and its accompanying idea of air mobility mindedness training focused on increased interoperability and the vital role of leadership

RAF WWII Operational and Flying Accident Casualty Files in The National Archives Mary Hudson, 2020-12-14 A journey through the original RAF Casualty Branch files and all the other available sources of information relating to RAF wartime casualties Military Historical Society At its height during the Second World War the RAF totaled 185 000 personnel All information concerning casualties was carefully compiled at the Air Ministry and now from these the official records those covering operational losses in the air and on the ground and flying accidents are being made available to the public through The National Archives This huge collection of casualty files contains a wealth of contemporary documentation from a variety of sources including captured German records It includes official documents examples of which are given accounts of searches undertaken to establish the fate of the missing places of burial copies of information received from the International Red Cross and from sources within enemy occupied lands as well as letters from family and friends some of which reveal dark secrets of bigamy adultery illegitimacy debt and dishonor In this groundbreaking book Mary Hudson has used her expert knowledge to provide an invaluable guide to the understanding of these records for use by researchers and family members alike An intriguing work bringing the fruits of many years of inside experience into the hands of those trying to find the missing piece in the jigsaw of a family tree or any RAF historian The Shackleton Association Fascinating illustrates the dedication of the teams who handled the difficult issues of death and the missing in a very compassionate and dedicated manner Journal of The Orders Medals Research Society Drop Zone

Burma Roger Annett,2008-10-30 Air dropped supplies were a vital part of the Allied campaign in Burma during World War II The transportation of munitions food and medical supplies was undertaken in the most difficult situations both on the land where the air bases were often situated in remote tropical jungle terrain and in the air when hazardous flying conditions were met in the steamy airs above the carpet of forest treetops This book is based upon the memories of nine veterans of the campaign John Hart an air dispatcher with 194 Squadron Peter Bray a Dakota pilot with 31 Squadron Arthur Watts a fitter with both 31 and 194 Squadrons Colin Lynch an Observer on 31 Squadron Norman Currell a Dakota pilot with 31 Squadron George Hufflett 1st Queens Infantry Ken Brown Royal Signals Eric Knowles the Buffs and Dame Vera Lynn who was with ENSA during the campaign It describes how they arrived in Burma and their previous wartime experiences and then explains their parts in the famous actions such as The Defence of Arakan The Sieges of Imphal and Kohima the Allied Counterattack the Advance to Mandalay and the Race to Rangoon The author explains the background to this theater of war and then puts the veterans memories into context as the campaign progresses Mosquito Intruder Pilot Jeremy Walsh,2022-06-16 This illustrated WW2 biography chronicles the wartime experiences of a young Royal Air Force pilot who flew into combat over Europe and Burma Ben Walsh lied about his age to join the RAF determined to play his part in the Second World War He volunteered to be an intruder pilot flying low level operations in the dark Ben flew ops for three years starting in the skies over with Europe then ferrying one of the first Mosquito FB VIs to India before flying in the Burma campaign After surviving belly landings crashes enemy fire and engine failures the strain of combat operations took its toll on the young pilot When Ben and his navigator asked to be removed from operations their request was only denied but also resulted in threats of court martial By the end of the war Ben was suffering from a nervous condition known as the twitch His confidence and health were restored by the young woman who would become his wife Throughout the war Ben maintained a Roll of honor in his photograph album memorializing his friends and colleagues who lost their lives That album forms the backdrop to this biography which is based on Ben s own recollections his logbook and the notes he kept through the war The War

Corfield,2001 If there was an honour roll of bibliographies of the Malayan campaign and the Japanese occupation of Malaya Singapore and Borneo this work would come close to the top of the list With over 4 000 entries it is a formidable collection and there is no doubt that Justin Corfield s efforts will be valuable to scholars working on this important aspect of military as well as Malayan and Singapore history Corfield has compiled a virtual treasure trove of hitherto seemingly untouched material in the form of original diaries and other unpublished personal accounts including material not only in English and Dutch but also in Malay and Chinese Three indices greatly facilitate the looking up of entries The Oxford English Dictionary ,1989 Battle for Burma E. from Burma John Randle,2004-09-19 A collection of autobiographical stories from an officer in the British Indian Army during World War II John Randle served with the greatly respected Baluch Regiment of the former Indian Army right through the fiercely fought Burma Campaign winning a Military Cross yet on VJ Day he was only some sixty miles from where had started out nearly four years before Unlike other conventional war memoirs this book comprises a gratifying number of self contained stories drawn from the author s experiences and memories Some are long other mere vignettes some are moving and serious others are light hearted even humorous Some cover hard won victories and success others defeats and reversal some describe acts of great valor others incidents reflecting human frailties All however are worth reading and give a very accurate picture of war at its bitterest when men are drawn together and individuals are under that most demanding microscope of their fellow comrades in arms The Burma Campaign Frank McLynn,2011 Often described as the forgotten war the Burma Campaign was one of the most punishing and protracted military adventures of World War Two It has become notorious for the ingenious tactics used by Britain America and their allies on the one hand and the Japanese and their allies on the other as well as for the atrocious conditions that had to be endured by both sides Seasonal monsoon rains which allowed effective campaigning for little more than half the year as well as famine disease snakes and crocodiles all bore heavily on the troops Impenetrable jungle poor transport infrastructure and the Allied preoccupation with the war in Europe made this the longest single campaign fought by the British in the Second World War It is against this epic backdrop that Frank McLynn constructs the dramatic story of the four larger than life commanders directing the Allied effort Louis Mountbatten Orde Wingate Joseph Stilwell and William Slim Strikingly original in its approach the book explores the Campaign through the prism of these four men and their often stormy relationship From 1942 and the greatest defeat for British arms in the history of the Empire thro Battle Tales from Burma John Randle,2005-01-01 John Randle served with the greatly respected Baluch Regiment of the former Indian Army right through the fiercely fought Burma Campaign winning an MC on the way yet when VJ Day dawned he was only some 60 miles from where he had started out nearly four years before This collection of stories drawn from memory covers every aspect of a life in the forces from great courage to humor presenting a personal picture of war at its bitterest Wingate's Men Colin Higgs,2019-12-19 This volume of rare WWII photographs offers a vivid chronicle of the exploits and operations of the famous British special forces unit stationed in Burma The Long Range Penetration Groups more commonly known as the Chindits were possibly the most famous fighting formations of the Second World War's Burma campaign Colonel Orde Wingate began the operations deep within enemy territory with the aim of disrupting Japanese plans for the invasion of India. In their first operation the Chindits took the Japanese by surprise but the Japanese responded quickly. With three brigades chasing them they fled back to India to avoid capture. Despite heavy losses the Chindits had proven themselves a formidable force and their next operation would be far more ambitious. Wingate arranged for 10 000 men to be flown into the heart of Burma causing significant mayhem amongst the Japanese forces. Wingate however died in a plane crash in the Burmese jungle. This wonderful collection of photographs drawn in large part from one man's private albums shows the harsh conditions in which the Chindits had to operate and the terrible physical state of many of the men who survived the jungles, the dry plains and the ferocious Japanese enemy.

Slim's Burma Boys John Hill, 2019-07-01 Slim's Burma Boys relates the personal experiences of men who fought the Forgotten War of the Burma campaign. Hill wanted his readers to know what it was like to be there and with this in mind he selected a variety of operations and events from B Company of the 2nd Battalion the Royal Berkshire Regiment which he commanded. He was one of the only men to survive the border crossing into Burma. The Company earned two Military Crosses, a Distinguished Conduct Medal, four Military Medals and a mention in Despatches. Hill conveys the intensity of involvement in the action, experiencing the adrenaline rush as well as the fear and courage of those who took part in swollen river crossings, patrols, ambushes, skirmishes and major actions against a ruthless and determined enemy who would never surrender. His memoir is of general interest as well as a fitting memoir to his men and should be prescribed reading for all would-be officers and soldiers.

The Longest Retreat Tim Carew, 1969 Burma Jon Latimer, 2004 Through festering jungle and across burning plains to high mountains and lazy rivers the Burma campaign of the Second World War involved the longest retreat in British history and the longest advance, long range penetration miles behind enemy lines, vicious hand to hand fighting and the horrors of forced labour. Yet this strange war remains utterly fascinating with singular characters like Slim, Mountbatten, Stilwell and Wingate, while dominated by ordinary soldiers that it gathered to itself like a whirlpool men from the ends of the earth from Britain, America, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, West, East and South Africa but overwhelmingly from India, Dogras, Sikhs, Punjabis, Kumaonis, Madrassis and Nepalese representing every race and caste on the subcontinent were all far from home, all fighting for survival against a ruthless enemy prepared to die for his emperor while the Burmese fought for their independence. Jon Latimer draws these disparate strands together in a gripping narrative to describe the operations and the politics that shaped them while illustrating the experiences of thousands of ordinary people whose lives were caught up and transformed by this south-east Asian maelstrom, many of whom feel that like the Fourteenth Army they were forgotten. This book ensures that none of them are.

LONGEST RETREAT: THE BURMA CAMPAIGN Tim Carew, 1989 Slim Chance: The Pivotal Role of Air Mobility in the Burma Campaign Derek M. Salmi, 2022 Burma 1942 R E S Tanner, D A Tanner, 2011-11-08 In December 1941 a Japanese battalion of 143rd Regiment of 55th Division crossed the Burma Siam border and seized Victoria Point heralding the invasion of Burma The first air raids on Rangoon were opposed by only two fighter squadrons 16 P40s of the American Volunteer Group AVG and 16 Buffaloes of the RAF What followed was a fighting retreat as the British forces struggled to the Indian border harried by an experienced Japanese force which was supported by at least 200 aircraft against the Allies meagre fifty Burma 1942 is a unique assessment of this disastrous episode in British military history taken in part from the diary and maps kept by Ralph Tanner who served with 2nd Battalion The Kings Own Yorkshire Light Infantry during the retreat and from the official Battalion war diary by Major Chadwick It includes background to the mobilisation of the Battalion in 1941 who they were their equipment and what they were trained for and considers the series of disasters at Moulmein Sittang Toksan and Yenangyaung which left them increasingly unable to fight as a unit It also addresses the factors which prevented optimum military performance includes discussions with the author s one time enemies and serves as a tribute to the strength of the men of the battalion most of whom were conscripts and of whom a fifth were killed and have no known grave The Chindit War Shelford Bidwell,1980
