Adopting a holistic approach covering both the humanities and the sciences, blending cognitive psychology, musical analysis, behavioral neuroscience, semiotics, linguistics and other related fields, the author examines the perceptual and cognitive processes that elicit musical meaning in film and breathe life into our cinematic experiences. Surrealism and Cinema Michael Richardson, 2006-03-01 Surrealism has long been recognised as having made a major contribution to film theory and practice and many contemporary film makers acknowledge its influence. Most of the critical literature, however, focuses either on the 1920s or the work of Buuel. The aim of this book is to open up a broader picture of surrealism's contribution to the conceptualisation and making of film. Tracing the work of Luis Buuel, Jacques Prvert, Nelly Kaplan, Walerian Borowczyk, Jan van Kmajer, Raul Ruiz and Alejandro Jodorowsky, Surrealism and Cinema charts the history of surrealist film making in both Europe and Hollywood from the 1920s to the present day. At once a critical introduction and a provocative re-evaluation, Surrealism and Cinema is essential reading for anyone interested in surrealist ideas and art and the history of film.

Feeling Colour Bregt Lameris, 2025-03-06 The shift back from quasi-monochrome to coloured motion picture during the 1950s and 1960s famously provided moviegoers the dazzling opportunity to more fully engage their senses, all the while opening new modes of affective possibilities for filmmakers. Set against the intersection of media studies, emotion theory, biology and digital humanities, Feeling Colour: Chromatic Embodiment in Film Culture 1950s-1960s delves into the role colour played in the oft-fraught relationship between cinema and its audiences. This transnational analysis of an extensive range of midcentury cinematography examines the multilayered effects which extend beyond the silver screen, offering a high level of theoretical elaboration and in-depth historical exploration of both experimental and mainstream movies. Lameris takes an interdisciplinary perspective, examining the different ways colour creates or was believed to create embodied reactions. From perception theory and putting the nerves in motion to colour psychology and how to steer the spectator to cross-modal perception or synaesthesia, Lameris asks how colours and feelings in film are entangled in the colour cultures' discourses and beliefs of a particular historical context. With its influential cultural scholarly contribution and accessible writing style, this book will delight both students and specialists in film and media studies. In addition, those interested in the history and
