Cooperative Knowledge Processing Stefan Kirn, Gregory O'Hare, 2012-12-06 In the light of the challenges that face today's organizations there is a growing recognition that future market success and long term survival of enterprises will increasingly depend upon the effective usage of information technology Of late a new generation of terminology has emerged to describe enterprises This terminology draws heavily upon the virtual concept virtual reality virtual organization virtual working environment and indeed virtual product However developing computerized organisations for the 21st century demands serious thought with regard to the judicious integration of organizational theory design and practice with research tools and methods from within information processing technology Within this book we approach this aim from the perspective of a radically decentralized possibly virtual enterprise We assume that organizations are becoming increasingly process orientated rather than adhering to the former more traditional organizational structures based upon task oriented models This approach has proved illuminating in that due to the inherent autonomy of organizational subunits any approach to coordinating decentralized activities including workflows and business processes necessitates a cooperative style of problem solving This book introduces the reader to a stimulating new field of interdisciplinary research in cooperative problem solving In Chapter 1 Kim presents a view of three central disciplines namely those of Organizational Theory Computer Supported Cooperative Work CSCW and Distributed Artificial Intelligence DAI The applications given here demonstrate how future enterprises will benefit from recent advances in the technological arena of cooperative knowledge processing
