

BUILT TOUGH FROM THE INSIDE OUT.

Tough and roomy. From front end back to tailgate, Blazer measures 161". Total cargo space: 21.8 cu. ft. And even with the available second seat in place, there's still over 14 cu. ft. Cargo area height: 42 1/2".

250 Six.

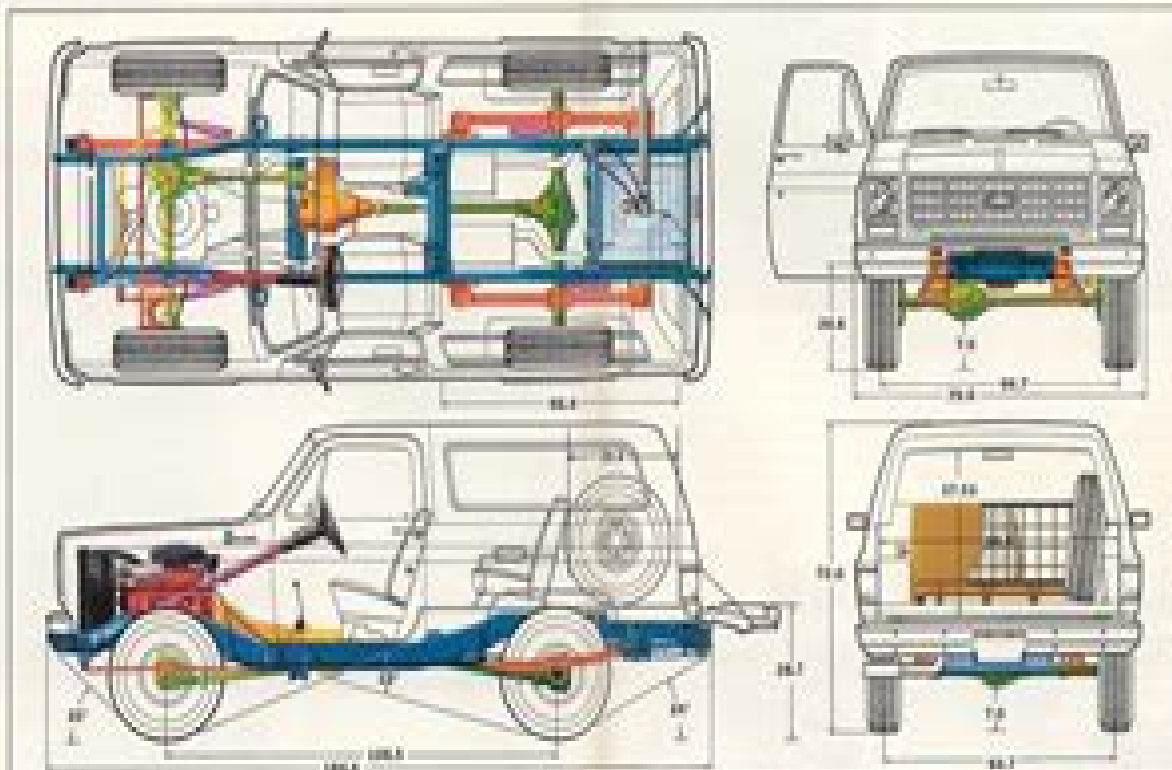

The standard engine on 2- and 4-wheel drive Blazers is Chevy's 250-cu-in. six (300-4 V8 required in California).

Features include precision-machined block and head castings, free-breathing valves in head design, hydraulic valve lifters and precision-balanced pistons/rods. This engine performs equally well on level and inclined fuel.

Available V8s.

Chevy's 300 2-barrel is available on all Blazers (300 4-barrel specified in California). Like all Chevy V8s, it has short-stroke design, full-jacket cylinder cooling. For increased torque and horsepower the 300-4 V8 is available on all models and a powerful 400-4 V8 is available on 4-wheel-drive models.

High Energy Ignition

Standard with both 6s and V8 engines, our High Energy Ignition delivers up to an 80% better spark than conventional systems. It helps provide quick starting and all-weather protection from moisture, dirt and road splash. Solid-wire design eliminates points and ignition wear-out, extends the time between recommended tune-ups.

Choice of transmissions.

Match the Blazer engine you select with one of three available transmissions: a 3-speed fully synchronized unit (not available with 400 4-barrel V8); a 4-speed unit with floor-mounted shifter (not available with 300 4-barrel V8); or 3-speed Turbo Hydra-matic.

Quick turn angle.

A 30-degree turn angle on the front wheel gives 4WD Blazer a turning diameter of only 27.1 ft., curb-to-curb, for easy maneuvering in almost any situation.

Tough Blazer frame.

Drop-center design allows for lower body height, makes getting in and out easy. Deep-section all-steel channel side rails are strong and durable to withstand the demands of off-road driving.

Steel front half top, removable rear top.

All Blazers have a steel front half top and full doors. Corrosion-resistant one-piece door openings help provide strength and tight door sealing. A removable fiberglass-reinforced plastic top encloses the rear seating or cargo area. In lieu of the plastic top, a convertible top is also available. See page 6 for details.

Corrosion protection in critical areas.

The inside surfaces of front fender inner and outer panels are sprayed with anti-rust primer before welding and final priming. The radiator support lower reinforcement is made of zinc line alloy steel. The inner surface of the support is sprayed with anti-rust primer before final priming. Primer is baked on the inner surface of the windshield frame and plastic panel assembly and on inner surfaces of front door outer panels before tanning and final priming. Next the entire Blazer steel body, doors and tailgate are totally immersed in electrolytically charged primer—drawing primer into hidden seams and crevices for added corrosion protection. After the finish paint is applied and baked on, aluminum wax preservative is sprayed inside the plastic chamber, the door fender panels and the lower portion of the doors.

Double-walled body and sheet metal.

Blazer's head, front fenders and tailgate are fabricated from two single sheets of steel, welded together to form a rigid double wall. Double-wall construction is also used in Blazer's doors, windshield pillars, half roof, front cross and rear side panels.
