

Revision Notes for Class 9
Social Science - Civics (Democratic Politics)
Chapter 3 - Electoral Politics

Why Do We Need Elections?

Election is a tool or a mechanism adopted by many countries, through which people choose their representatives. In the world, more than 100 countries conduct elections. The process of selection of representatives at regular intervals is known as election.

The election is necessary because:

- Citizens of that country can independently select the person who is going to make important decisions and shape the future.
- To maintain a peaceful environment in the country, by making and implementing good policies and laws.
- It guarantees that no government is elected for an indefinite period.
- It helps citizens of the country to engage themselves in their country's betterment.

What Makes an Election Democratic?

- The minimum required conditions for a democratic election are:
- Everyone should be able to vote with equal value.
- Parties and their candidates shall offer real choices to their voters and should contest elections.
- The choices need to be offered at regular intervals, that is, elections should be conducted after every few years.
- Only that should be elected which is preferred by the people of that country.
- Elections need to be conducted in a free and fair manner, keeping people's wishes as the priority.

web fingerprints of the elements atomic spectra as dr matilsky discussed in his video lecture atomic spectra occur due to the fact that orbital radii of electrons and hence their energies are quantized at specific levels determined by the atomic number number of protons and ionization state number of electrons in any given element
