

BRANDS THAT MAKE THE BEST CARS

We rank automakers from best to worst on their scores and survey results.

by JEFF S. KRAFT/CR

How we made the rankings: The Consumer Reports National Vehicle Survey is the largest survey of its kind, with more than 100,000 respondents. We use a variety of data to create our rankings, including reliability, performance, and overall satisfaction. We also consider the quality of customer service, safety, and other factors. Our rankings are based on the most recent data available. For more information, visit CR.org.

and vehicle attributes of its automakers can show you if the right vehicle is right for you. These ratings are based on the average overall score, a combination of our most recent reliability, safety, and owner satisfaction data, and reflect the all of the models from each automaker. The top five brands this year are the same ones as 2023, with BMW leading the pack with an 87 score, followed by Subaru, the leading manufacturer brand with 86. This year, for both companies, a clear consistent combination of high and best owner and very good predicted reliability. Porsche takes the third position with a score of 86. Both Porsche and Cadillac moved up 10 positions this year due to their improved reliability. Keep in mind that even high scoring brands can have some lower performing models, so be sure to check the ratings (see page 46) for the auto you're considering. This is especially true for bigger brands like Ford and Toyota, which have some models that performed far better than others in our tests. (If the brands CR ranked this year were recommending every model rated from worst (BMW, Porsche, Honda, Kia, Mazda, and Audi) Single pick: You can buy and test model from those companies with confidence. (There are also brands that don't have a single model recommended by CR, Canada carefully when buying one of those.) To be included in the brand ranking, CR has to have tested at least two current models from a company. We've tested only one model from luxury, Polaris, and Ram, so they aren't included this year.
