Tutoring the Unexpected

Since transitioning to a university in 2008, Utah Valley University has developed three graduate programs. Because of this addition, our Writing Center has developed the Graduate Writing Center to specifically target upper division students and those preparing for graduate school. One service we have constructed for these students is the GRE workshop. While other GRE workshops prepare students for all three components of the GRE, our workshop focuses on the writing portion. We help students practice brainstorming and organizing the Issue and Argumentative essays effectively. We also teach them how to identify key terms and analyze prompts for specific details and allow students to practice writing prompts in a simulated testing environment.

Schmidt (1994), Schmidt et al. (1993), Nelson and Evertz (2001) explain that there is evidence that students require a certain level of expertise from their tutors to experience improvement academically. While we as undergraduate tutors have not taken the GRE test, we do have a reasonable amount of knowledge about the writing concepts that the analytical writing portion of the test requires. Students who attended the workshop found our instruction beneficial. Furthermore, the articles suggest that a well-structured learning environment can make up for tutors lacking in a particular area. The GRE workshop incorporated carefully designed outlines and preparation material to further assist the students in attendance. Therefore, we will argue that a GRE workshop taught by peer tutors who have not taken the GRE can still effectively help students prepare for the test because tutors have general knowledge of skills required, and the workshop is taught using directive materials that can make up the difference in experience.
