Cultural Values and Entrepreneurship Francisco Liñán, Ghulam Nabi, Norris Krueger, 2017-10-02 Cultural Values and Entrepreneurship aims to broaden and deepen our understanding of which elements of culture influence or are influenced by entrepreneurial activity Differences in entrepreneurial activity among countries and regions within those countries are persistent and cannot be fully explained by institutional and economic variables A substantial number of these differences have been attributed to culture and it is clear that some socio cultural practices values and norms are more conducive to driving or inhibiting entrepreneurial intentions and activity However we need to dig deeper into how and why cultural practices and underlying values and norms matter in entrepreneurial action in order to more fully understand the complexities of the processes without making cross cultural or cross national generalisations Unique cultural national and institutional contexts present different practices in terms of opportunities and challenges for driving entrepreneurial action The contributions in this book consider some of the many different facets of the culture entrepreneurship relationship and offer valuable insights to our understanding of the field This book was originally published as a special issue of Entrepreneurship Regional Development Glimpses into Primary School Teacher Education in South Africa Sarah Gravett, Elizabeth Henning, 2020-11-05 This book explores the current landscape of Initial Teacher Education ITE in primary schools in South Africa Considering recent policy directives and initiatives it highlights the dilemmas of ITE for the primary school and gives a thorough account of innovations and initiatives to improve ITE The book presents what works best for quality preparation of teachers in the Global South where many children rely on their teachers and school life to break the cycle of poverty Chapters draw on evidence from workplace learning pre service study and primary school teacher education policy to highlight examples of promising change in teacher education in South Africa addressing the clichés of theory versus practice head on This book successfully brings out the challenging aspects of teacher education for childhood learning which has otherwise been regarded as the softer option for a career in education This book will be of great interest for academics researchers and post graduate students in the fields of teacher education African education educational policy international education and comparative education

Theoretical Nursing Afaf Ibrahim Meleis, 2011 An additional assumption was that the processes for theory development were new to nursing and hence nurses in graduate programs learned strategies for advancing knowledge from other disciplines This assumption was debunked with the knowledge that nurses were always engaged in knowledge development driven by their experiences in clinical practice Because of these assumptions most of the early writing about theory development was about outlining strategies that should be used rather than strategies that have already been used in the discipline to develop theories Theorists themselves did not uncover or adequately discuss ways by which they developed their theories therefore the tendency was to describe processes that were based on theories developed in other disciplines mainly the physical and social sciences And an implicit assumption was made that there should be a single strategy for theory development some claiming to begin the process from practice and others believing it should be driven by research Provided by publisher
