Beyond The Great Rivers:

Beyond the Great Rivers William McChesney, 2022-11-03 Brothers William and Frank McDougal were savoring their family's newfound freedom in America after immigrating from Ireland in the mid-eighteen hundreds. That is until the American Civil War broke and drove them away from their little patch of paradise in Hendersonville, South Carolina. After the South lost, the McDougals along with several families in Hendersonville loaded their lives in Conestoga wagons and headed West to escape the wrath of the then United States and the Union army. And so started their adventure in the great American frontier. The McDougals and company found themselves in the thick of the white man's struggle to win the West. There is a story that puts a human face to the myth of the West spanning the civil war period to the later part of the Indian Wars, the near extinction of the buffalo and the legends of Buffalo Bill Cody and Wild Bill Hickok. It is one of survival, determination, sacrifice, conquest, and the struggle that gave birth to present-day America. This is the story of the Wild West's untold heroes who never made headlines but would be a shame to overlook. For without them and their sacrifices, America's western expansion might have ended as a failed attempt at Manifest Destiny.

Later appointed judge advocate of the Territorial Militia, he attained the rank of colonel, a title he was proud to use for the rest of his life. By 1893, he was elected the mayor of Santa Fe and thereafter district attorney of Santa Fe County. Twitchell probably promoted New Mexico as much as any single New Mexican of his generation. An avid supporter of New Mexico statehood, he argued the territory's case for elevated political status, celebrated its final victory in 1912, and even designed New Mexico's first state flag in 1915. Just as Twitchell's first edition in 1911 helped celebrate New Mexico's entry into statehood in 1912, the newest edition of the text and illustrations, including the Subscriber's Edition page of Number 156 of 1,500, serves as a tribute to the state's centennial celebration of 2012.
