and nutritional value of the most widely consumed crops e g rice maize wheat potato soybean and not expand the amount of land allocated to agriculture as this puts stress on the environment Crop yield can be improved by targeting traits related to photosynthesis nutrient uptake and utilization plant architecture storage organ number size weight biotic and abiotic stress tolerance and postharvest storage Similarly the nutritional quality of crops can be enhanced through macronutrient e g carbohydrate protein oil or micronutrient e g vitamins antioxidants minerals engineering as well as by reducing antinutrient content Despite the recent advancements there is a growing need for further research in crop trait modification Genome editing can help engineer these traits faster and easier than ever heralding a new era of precision agriculture We invite contributions to our Research Topic which will explore innovative advancements in genome editing techniques applied to crop plants Specifically we encourage manuscripts addressing the following themes Yield enhancement through genome editing Strategies to boost plant productivity and efficiency Developing stress resistant crops with enhanced tolerance to biotic and abiotic challenges Biofortification and the reduction of antinutrients using precise genome editing Innovations in genome editing for the production of beneficial secondary metabolites Novel genome editing tools and their application in transgene free crop breeding Submissions related to the development of novel genome editing tools that demonstrate the potential of trait improvement as well as proof of concept studies that demonstrate transgene free gene editing are also encouraged We welcome Original Research Review and Perspective articles that contribute to the field of sustainable crop improvement using genome editing techniques
