Global Futures in East Asia Ann Anagnost, Andrea Arai, Hai Ren, 2013-01-09 The East Asian economic miracle of the twentieth century is now a fond memory What does it mean to be living in post miracle times For the youth of China Taiwan Japan and South Korea the opportunities and challenges of the neoliberal age deeply shaped by global forces in labor markets powerfully frame their life prospects in ways that are barely recognizable to their parents Global Futures in East Asia gathers together ethnographic explorations of what its contributors call projects of life making Here we see youth striving to understand themselves their place in society and their career opportunities in the nation region and world While some express optimism it is clear that many others dread their prospects in the competitive global system in which the failure to thrive is isolating humiliating and possibly even fatal Deeply engaged with some of the most significant theoretical debates in the social sciences in recent years and rich with rare cross national comparisons this collection will be of great interest to all scholars and students interested in the formation of subjects and subjectivities under globalization and neoliberalism

Economic Consequences of Globalization Shūjirō Urata, Chin Hee Hahn, Dionisius Narjoko, 2012 First Published in

2012 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company China, Asia, and the New World Economy Barry Eichengreen, Yŏng-ch'ŏl Pak, Charles Wyplosz, 2008-02-21 This timely collection of fifteen essays by leading economists explores how rapid economic growth in China and elsewhere in Asia is reshaping the world economy Regional Strategies in a Global Economy René Haak, Dennis S. Tachiki, 2004 Both proponents and opponents of globalization assume it is a process that sweeps across national borders Indeed over the last twenty years the key features of globalization provide prima facie evidence for this conventional wisdom Dramatic developments in information and communications technology the rise of global companies and production networks the unstoppable internationalization of financial markets and the deregulation and privatization of service sectors are all important examples of how this process unfolds in its raw form Nevertheless the increase in regional economic activity is another striking feature of this process As multinational corporations extend their global reach regional networks also emerge in the global trading system Globalization therefore does not only mean a global convolution of economies but could also lead to a spatial concentration of economic activity All through the 1990s and at the beginning of the new century East Asia experienced numerous structural changes leading to interesting market developments South Korea's rise to developed country status the integration of the Southeast Asian economies and the rise of China have made this region the manufacturing center of the global economy Considering the economic importance of Japan and the other East Asian nations in the world the crucial questions that arise include What are the linkages between the global strategies of multinational corporations and their regional business operations Why do subregional strategies emerge especially recently to take advantage of China as a production base and market Are the modern business practices in a multinational corporation's home country easily transferred to their overseas operations and are they readily absorbed by local employees Finally which strategic directions are Japanese American East Asian and European enterprises going in this important business area of the world To answer these questions this book takes a closer look at several structural features of the East Asian economy and the corporate and business strategies of multinational corporations The volume assembles up to date research by a number of European Australian and Japanese scholars and presents analysis of various business aspects of regional strategies in a global economy Handbook of Research on Asian Business Henry Wai-Chung Yeung, 2007 The rise of Asia as an important region for global business has been widely recognized as one of the most significant economic phenomena in the new millennium This handbook brings together reviews of Asian business under a range of headings including business organization marketing and business policy Economic Development and Inequality in China Hong Yu, 2011 The conventional belief that all regions have equally benefited from China's remarkable development over the last three decades is subjected to criticism in this book as Hong Yu systematically analyses the issue of regional inequality during the post 1978 period using the case of Guangdong Guangdong is one of the key industrial centres and economic powerhouses in China and as a pioneer province instigating economic reform as China opened up to the world it offers an ideal focus upon which to question and enrich the Western theories of economic geography and regional disparity Based on field research analysis of geographic characteristics and regression models this book illustrates how Guangdong's TM's impressive development record has been marred by its rising regional disparity investigates the main causes of this disparity and draws conclusions regarding the lessons China can learn from it Economic Development and Inequality in China will be of interest to students and scholars of Chinese economics Chinese regional studies economic geography and China Studies Hong Yu is a Visiting Research Fellow at the National University of Singapore His research interests lie in the field of regional economy He is the author of a chapter on China's two delta regions in the book China and The Global Economic Crisis

Economic Development in Asia John Malcolm Dowling, 2004 ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT IN ASIA explores factors that influence economic growth and development particularly from an Asian development perspective Grounded firmly on theoretical foundations it showcases the richness and variety of the Asian development experience through extensive coverage of individual country case studies institutional developments and challenges facing policy makers in the region as well as in depth discussions of existing empirical evidence This book is specially tailored to meet the needs of social science students studying economic development in Asia University students educators and government policy makers will find the book particularly useful for understanding growth and development trends in the context of a rapidly globalizing world With the rising tide of interest in Asian economies the book will prove to be an invaluable for anyone seeking to better understand the process of growth and economic development in the region Guide to Indian Periodical Literature

, 2008 Globalisation and Economic Security in East Asia Helen Sharmini Nesadurai, 2006 What is the relationship between globalization and economic security Globalisation and Economic Security in East Asia is an incisive new engagement with this important question that uses detailed conceptual exploration and fresh empirical analysis Viewing traditional neorealist conceptions of economic security as overly narrow this new study suggests that any conception of economic security in the contemporary era needs to also pay close attention to the nature of global capitalism and the insecurities it generates for societies and individuals This uniquely open ended approach to conceptualizing economic security is supported by the East Asian experience The country case studies included here reveal that while economic security has largely been posed as one of ensuring sustainable economic growth and equitable social development particularly following the 1997 to 1998 Asian financial crisis other more realist conceptions of economic security have not become irrelevant This is also an exploration of whether and how national regional and multilateral institutions as well as non state regional mechanisms help policy makers meet the task of governing in the interests of economic security This book will be of great interest to all students and scholars of international relations international political economy of East Asia globalization and security studies

Continent, Coast, Ocean Kee Beng Ooi, Choo Ming Ding, 2007 Examines the dynamics of regionalism in Eastern Asia Japan's diplomatic history as well as the heritage of its conquest of Eastern Asia is examined alongside China's cultural geography paradigmatic dynamics and intra regional economics Ties between East Asia and Southeast Asia as well as the influence of American military power and European integration are also considered Bibliographic Index ,2009 Globalization and Change in Asia Dennis A. Rondinelli,John M. Heffron,2007 Explores three decades of adjustment on the part of governments civil society and the private sector to the complex forces of international competition This book focuses on the essential ingredients of the most successful globalization strategies strategies that can optimally respond to the economic social and technological challenges Asia 2030 Wg Cdr Ajey Lele ,Dr Namrata Goswami,Brig Rumel Dahiya ,2014-01-13 The Region in the New Economy Yōshirō Higano,2002 During the late 1990s the new economy became synonymous with the optimism resulting from high economic growth and its features continue to have a major impact on growth prospects This international volume analyzes the newly emerging profile of regions and cities with contributions encapsulating issues like ICT infrastructure the labour market migration sustainability innovation and public policy design
