Converging Regions The International Political Economy Of New Regionalisms Series

David W. Roland-Holst

Converging Regions The International Political Economy Of New Regionalisms Series:

Converging Regions Dr Nele Lenze, Dr Charlotte Schriwer, 2014-11-28 The current volume examines the renewed global dynamic and how it is changing the relationships between the interdependent global communities across Asia and the Middle East Focussing on the broader aspects of finance and trade between the Middle East and Asia as well as growing security issues over natural resources and questions of sovereignty this volume concludes with speculations on the growing importance of Asia and the Middle East in the global setting

A New Scramble for Africa? Sören Scholvin, 2016-03-03 Global energy consumption will increase rapidly in the next decades The discrepancy between demand and supply is worrisome within the old and new cores of the world economy Sub Saharan Africa meanwhile possesses vast potential for energy resources to be further exploited Whilst the Global North is a traditional player in the sub Saharan energy sector new actors from emerging economies especially China's state owned enterprises but also Brazilian Indian and South African giants have entered what appears to be a scramble for the largely untapped energy resources of the region This book is the first to bring together comparative perspectives on The strategies of state and non state actors involved in the exploitation of sub Saharan energy resources The potential and pitfalls of new forms of cooperation on energy southwards of the Sahara The domestic opportunities and challenges of the present energy resource boom Dynamics on the international level are brought together with local developments to provide up to date insights on the scramble for energy resources in sub Saharan Africa This book also advances a materialist approach applicable in geographical and political scientific research showing that much insight can be gained by concentrating on the material environment that shapes economic and political phenomena

Limits to Regional Integration Søren Dosenrode, 2016-03-09 Regionalization in general and regional integration in particular have taken place at a growing pace since the end of the Cold War when states were set free from various security overlays Regional integration is logical as it is supposed to advance wealth and peace Still the picture is far from clear and the process of regional integration is not automatic disintegration takes place as we saw in the cases of the Soviet Union Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia to mention a few This is the case not only in states recently brought together but also in traditional states like Britain The Netherlands and Spain where strong groups strive for independence In some places regionalization is flourishing but regional integration is not Some regional integration projects like the North American Free Trade Agreement and Mercosur seem to stagnate Certainly there are limits to regional integration This comprehensive volume written by high profiled academics covers these themes by examining eleven cases ranging from the lack of integration in the Arctic and the Middle East to ongoing or progressing integration in Europe to uncover what blocks regional integration the results of which are used for developing new theoretical insights

Limits to Regional Integration Professor Søren Dosenrode, 2015-03-28 This comprehensive volume written by high profiled academics covers themes within regional integration by examining eleven cases ranging from the lack of integration in the Arctic and the Middle East to ongoing or progressing integration in Europe in an effort to uncover what blocks regional integration The results of this discussion are used for developing new theoretical insights Africa in the Age of Globalisation Edward Shizha, Lamine Diallo, 2016-03-09 This is a collection of bold and visionary scholarship that reveals an insightful exposition of re-visioning African development from African perspectives It provides educators policy makers social workers non governmental agencies and development agencies with an interdisciplinary conceptual base that can effectively guide them in planning and implementing programs for socio economic development in Africa The book provides up to date scholarly research on continental trends on various subjects and concerns of paramount importance to globalisation and development in Africa politics democracy education gender technology global relationships and the role of non governmental organisations The authors challenge the familiar paradigms in order to show how imperfectly if at all assumptions about globalisation and development theories have failed in their depictions and applications to Africa The scholars in this volume both inform and advocate for a re-visioning of perceptions on Africa and how it navigates global processes IBSS: Political Science: 2008 Vol. 57 The British Library of Political and Economic Science, 2009-11-04 First published in 1952 the International Bibliography of the Social Sciences anthropology economics political science and sociology is well established as a major bibliographic reference for students researchers and librarians in the social sciences worldwide Key features Authority Rigorous standards are applied to make the IBSS the most authoritative selective bibliography ever produced Articles and books are selected on merit by some of the world's most expert librarians and academics Breadth Today the IBSS covers over 2000 journals more than any other comparable resource The latest monograph publications are also included International Coverage The IBSS reviews scholarship published in over thirty languages including publications from Eastern Europe and the developing world User friendly organization all non English titles are word sections Extensive author subject and place name indexes are provided in both English and French Environment and Planning ,2008 International interdisciplinary journal discussing the relations between Society and Space Space is broadly conceived from landscapes of the body to global geographies from cyberspace to old growth forests as metaphorical and material as theoretical construct and empirical fact Covers both practical politics and the abstractions of social theory Journal of Economic Literature ,2003 subject European Access, 2002 A New Financial Market Structure for East Asia Yöng-ch'öl Pak, Yunjong Wang, Takatoshi Itō, 2005 This book contends that the East Asian financial constitution lacks an appropriate infrastructure resulting in inefficient allocation of high savings and an over inflated short term debt market It goes on to point out that despite high savings East Asia's dependency on financial centers outside the region is also relatively high and that there is no strong region wide network to connect various financial centers in East Asia Against this economic background the contributors make recommendations for the establishment of effective and stable capital recycling in East Asia The financial intermediary function of the regional financial centers Hong Kong Singapore and Tokyo is evaluated Discussion focusses on the issues of building an organic network between the financial markets of major economies in the region and enhancing the future role and function of those regional financial centres The policy implications of the future development of regional financial markets based on regional financial networks that could potentially act as intermediaries between the high savings and productive sectors in East Asia are also examined Concentrating on the major issues identified as central to building a new financial market structure in East Asia this book will be appeal to those with a special interest in Asian studies and course in international political economy IPE this text comes from a non American critical perspective and the contributors are drawn from prominent scholars of IPE around the world Reshaping Economic Geography World Bank, 2009 Places do well when they promote transformations along the dimensions of economic geography higher densities as cities grow shorter distances as workers and businesses migrate closer to density and fewer divisions as nations lower their economic borders and enter world markets to take advantage of scale and trade in specialized products World Development Report 2009 concludes that the transformations along these three dimensions density distance and division are essential for development and should be encouraged The conclusion is controversial Slum dwellers now number a billion but the rush to cities continues A billion people live in lagging areas of developing nations remote from globalization s many benefits And poverty and high mortality persist among the world s bottom billion trapped without access to global markets even as others grow more prosperous and live ever longer lives Concern for these three intersecting billions often comes with the prescription that growth must be spatially balanced This report has a different message economic growth will be unbalanced To try to spread it out is to discourage it to fight prosperity not poverty But development can still be inclusive even for people who start their lives distant from dense economic activity For growth to be rapid and shared governments must promote economic integration the pivotal concept as this report argues in the policy debates on urbanization territorial development and regional integration Instead all three debates overemphasize place based interventions Reshaping Economic Geography reframes these debates to include all the instruments of integration spatially blind institutions spatially connective infrastructure and spatially targeted interventions By calibrating the blend of these instruments today s developers can reshape their economic geography If they do this well their growth will still be unbalanced but their development will be inclusive Book cover Infrastructure as a Catalyst for Regional Integration, Growth and Economic Convergence David W.
