Whatever the case maybe, there is no one reason why men and now woman enlist in their nation's army when war is upon them. In analyzing the Civil War, many explanations exist why Southern men were willing to fight their own brothers and sisters of the North in efforts to defend their way of life. The same can be said for the North, why they felt the need to sacrifice many of their own lives and take the lives of their brothers and sisters of the South's to restore the Union. There are multiple reasons why Northerners and Southerners took up arms against each other in the Civil War, and they varied from individual to individual.

It is a well known fact that Abraham Lincoln (the president of united States urine late 1 ass's) effort and his influence ended up in slavery abolition through our United States. To believe that northern states won the civil war because there army was the last to stand is correct, but there were other major reasons for their victory, in it incorrect to say North won because its army standing last in the battlefield is the main reason for their victory. In fact their army to be last in the battle field was also a result of one of these key reasons for their victory itself which were established long before the civil war.

Lincoln decisions were against traditional values. He choose to immobile the resources of the Union to enhance the power not only to the federal government but to also form a class of capitalist entrepreneurs. The South at this time suffered economic distress, the North went into war at a time of prosperity. This nourished the profits of industry and economy flourished. New England mills supplied the army with materials such as uniforms, blankets. While Pennsylvania coal and iron workers rapidly expanded their production. Merchant industries produced boats, shoes and meatpacking to supply the army needs.

Agriculture also flourished due to litigation moving westward, with machinery and immigrants replacing labor. One of the vital reasons for Northern States in the civil war success was their influence all over United States. The impact started in early sass's long before the civil war when the united States developed (in the north) a strong industrialized economic nation. More and improved technology required less labor which decreased its dependency on slaves. Even the farming was now based on technologies like tractors which required less labor work.

Which describes the situation in the sass's as increased industrialization. Steam rower, advanced interchangeable parts, assembly lines, and mass production contributed to the expansion of factory industry and Agriculture, mining, and manufacturing expanded because of more rail transport. The above mentioned quotes described the change in system of work through industrialization which even covered the Plantation and Agriculture, thus ultimately lessen

Gender Dynamics during and after the Lebanese Civil War, 1975-1990. A Marxist Feminist Perspective Reham ElMorally, 2017-05-23 Research Paper undergraduate from the year 2016 in the subject Gender Studies The American University in Cairo language English abstract In the following paper I wish to investigate the status of women and their socio economic conditions during the second civil war As it was common during that period of time the war was transferred to the womb of women and sectarian conflicts during that time and even later usually involved mudding the blood of future generations of one sect Therefore I wish to examine whether this was the case in Lebanon In order to do so I will divide my paper into five sections The first section of the paper will discuss the socio economic background of the working class families of different sects in Lebanon The second section of the paper will investigate the other means that were used during the war to weaken the Other i e the focus will be directed at unarmed forms of violence The third part of the paper will discuss the effects of the war and more specifically it will focus on how women perceived experienced and the extent to which they were affected by the war The fourth section will attempt to draw a comparative analysis in which the situation of women in Syria Lebanon and Palestine have been affected similarly during different conflicts at different locations and periods The last part of the paper will attempt to draw some conclusions about the eruption of the war and whether its consequences still cause distress to Lebanese women today

The Last Battle of the Civil War Jeffrey Wm Hunt,2010-01-01 This in depth military history sheds new light on one of the most forgotten yet most mythologized battles of the Civil War More than two months after Robert E Lee surrendered on April 9 1865 the New York Times reported a surprising piece of news On May 12 13 the last battle of the Civil War had been fought at the southernmost tip of Texas resulting in a Confederate victory Although the Battle of Palmetto Ranch did nothing to change the war s outcome it added the final irony to a conflict replete with ironies unexpected successes and lost opportunities In this book Jeffrey Hunt draws on previously unstudied letters and court martial records to offer a full and accurate account of the battle of Palmetto Ranch As he recreates the events of the fighting that pitted the United States 62nd Colored Troops and the 34th Indiana Veteran Volunteer Infantry against Texas cavalry and artillery battalions commanded by Colonel John S Rip Ford Hunt lays to rest many misconceptions about the battle Hunt reveals that the Texans were fully aware of events in the East and still willing to fight for Southern independence He also demonstrates that far from fleeing the battle in a panic as some have asserted the African American troops played a vital role in preventing the Union defeat from becoming a rout

State Formation After Civil War Derek M Powell,2016-08-05 State formation after civil war offers a new model for studying the formation of the state in a national peace transition as an integrated national phenomenon Current models of peacebuilding and state building limit that possibility reproducing a fragmented selective view of this complex reality Placing too much emphasis on state building as design they place too little on understanding state formation as unplanned historical process The dominant focus on national institutions also ignores the role that cities and civic polities have played in constituting the modern state Mining ideas from many disciplines and evidence from 19 peace processes including South Africa the book argues that the starting point for building a systematic theory is to explain a distinct pattern to state formation that can be observed in practice Despite their conflicts people in fragile societies bargain terms for peaceful coexistence they make attempts to constitute the right to rule as valid state authority in circumstances prone to conflict over which they have imperfect influence not control Though the kind of institutions created will differ with context how rules for state authority are institutionalized follows a consistent basic pattern That pattern defines state formation in peace transitions as both a unified if contingent field of normative practice and an object of comparative study Where the national centric models see local government as a matter belonging to policy on decentralization for later in the reconstruction phase the book uncovers a distinct local government dimension to peace transitions A civic dimension to national conflicts that must be explained incipient or proto local authorities that emerge even during civil war in peace making after state collapse the fact that it is common for peace agreements and constitutions to include rules for local authority for local elections to be held as part of broader democratization and for laws to be enacted to establish local government as part of peace compacts The book develops the concept of local peace transition to explain the distinctive constitutive role of this local dimension in peace making and state formation This path breaking book will be of compelling interest to practitioners scholars and students of comparative constitutional studies international law peace building and state building

Strengthening Peace in Post-Civil War States Matthew Hoddie, Caroline A. Hartzell, 2010-09-30 Among the more frequent and most devastating of conflicts civil wars from Yugoslavia to Congo frequently reignite and even spill over into the international sphere Given the inherent fragility of civil war peace agreements innovative approaches must be taken to ensure the successful resolution of these conflicts Strengthening Peace in Post Civil War States provides both analytical frameworks and a series of critical case studies demonstrating the effectiveness of a range of strategies for keeping the peace Coeditors Matthew Hoddie and Caroline A Hartzell here contend that lasting peace relies on aligning the self interest of individuals and communities with the society wide goal of ending war if citizens and groups have a stake in peace they will seek to maintain and defend it The rest of the contributors explore two complementary approaches toward achieving this goal restructuring domestic institutions and soft intervention Some essays examine the first tactic which involves reforming governments that failed to prevent war while others discuss the second an umbrella term for a number of non military strategies for outside actors to assist in keeping the peace

Historic Papers on the Causes of the Civil War Eugenia Dunlap Potts, 2005-01-01 No pen or brush can picture life in the old Southern States in the ante bellum days The period comprehends two hundred and fifty years of history without a parallel A separate and distinct civilization was there represented the like of which can never be reproduced Socially intellectually politically and religiously she stood pre eminent among nations It was the spirit of the cavalier that created and sustained our greatness Give the Puritan his due and still the fact remains The impetus that led to freedom from Great Britain came from the South A Southern General led the ragged Continentals on to victory Southern jurists and Southern statesmanship guided the councils of wisdom The genius of war pervaded her people She gave presidents cabinet officers commanders tacticians and strategists Her legislation extended the country s territory from the Atlantic to the Pacific A writer aptly says For more than fifty formative years of our history the Old South was the dominating power in the nation as it had been in the foundation of the colonies out of which came the Republic and later in fighting its battles of independence and in forming its policies of government Whatever of strength or symmetry the republic had acquired at home or reputation it had achieved abroad in those earlier crucial days of its history was largely due to the patriotism and ability of Southern statesmanship Why that scepter of leadership has passed from its keeping or why the New South is no longer at the front of national leadership is a question that might well give pause to one who recalls the brave days when the Old South sat at the head of the table and directed the affairs of the nation Jackson County's Role in the Civil War Clarence A. Newton,1961 The American Perfumer and Essential Oil Review ,1920 Union Pamphlets of the Civil War, 1861-1865 Frank Freidel,1967 The Causes of Civil War Simeon Djankov,2007 The dominant hypothesis in the literature that studies conflict is that poverty is the main cause of civil wars This paper instead analyzes the effect of institutions on civil war controlling for income per capita The authors set up a model in which institutions are endogenous and colonial origins affect civil wars through their legacy on institutions The results indicate that institutions proxied by the protection of property rights rule of law and the efficiency of the legal system are a fundamental cause of civil war In particular an improvement in institutions from the median value in the sample to the 75th percentile is associated with a reduction of 38 percentage points in the incidence of civil wars Moreover once institutions are included as explaining civil wars income does not have any effect on civil war either directly or indirectly Official Reports of the Debates of the House of Commons of the Dominion of Canada Canada.
