Infectious Inequalities Qijun Han, Daniel R. Curtis, 2021-12-24 This book explores societal vulnerabilities highlighted within cinema and develops an interpretive framework for understanding the depiction of societal responses to epidemic disease outbreaks across cinematic history Drawing on a large database of twentieth and twenty first century films depicting epidemics the study looks into issues including trust distrust and mistrust different epidemic experiences down the lines of expertise gender and wealth and the difficulties in visualizing the invisible pathogen on screen The authors argue that epidemics have long been presented in cinema as forming a point of cohesion for the communities portrayed as individuals and groups from below represented as characters in these films find solidarity in battling a common enemy of elite institutions and authority figures Throughout the book a central question is also posed cohesion for whom which sheds light on the fortunes of those characters that are excluded from these expressions of collective solidarity This book is a valuable reference for scholars and students of film studies and visual studies as well as academic and general readers interested in topics of films and history and disease and society The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license

The Humanities Pandemic Margaret Topping, 2023-07-25 This book explores how the Humanities can play an essential services role in addressing global challenges such as the Covid pandemic In arguing for their contribution alongside that of the Health Sciences it calls for a new critical engagement honest and self reflective from Humanities scholars with the question of how to overcome a fundamental challenge facing universities globally finding a common language and set of cultural assumptions between disciplines as the basis for communication The book looks at the nature of the challenges that can beset collaboration across disciplines and indeed across sectors notably between researchers and the general public and argues for a new Translational Humanities in both the sense of an applied Humanities and a Humanities that can translate itself across disciplines and sectors Crucially too it suggests that it is not narratives such as a pandemic novel or contagion film that successfully engage with contentious debates about the challenges of Covid but rather critically distant texts and thematic contexts that typically place the self in the position of other like travel narratives This book sits at a previously unconsidered intersection between debates around interdisciplinary collaboration and communication theories of intercultural contact and encounter and the role of the Humanities in tackling global issues Artificial Intelligence Systems and the Internet of Things in the Digital Era Abdalmuttaleb M.A Musleh Al-Sartawi, Anjum Razzaque, Muhammad Mustafa Kamal, 2021-05-28 This book brings together intelligence systems and the Internet of Things with special attention given to the opportunities challenges for education business growth and economic progression of nations which will help societies economists financial managers engineers ICT specialists digital managers data managers policymakers regulators researchers academics and students to better understand use and control AI and IoT to develop future strategies and to achieve sustainability goals EAMMIS 2021 was organized by the Bridges Foundation in cooperation with the Istanbul Medeniyet University Istanbul Turkey on March 19 20 2021 EAMMIS 2021 theme was Artificial Intelligence Systems and the Internet of Things in the digital era The papers presented at the conference provide a holistic view of AI education MIS cybersecurity blockchain Internet of Ideas IoI and knowledge management Epidemic Cinema Julia Echeverría, 2023-12-08 This book examines the recent trend in global cinema to feature infectious disease As the global crisis of the COVID 19 pandemic materialised the anxieties and discourses of world risk that had long been portrayed in popular media the book provides a novel definition of the epidemic film genre and offers a systematic look into the narrative and stylistic conventions that characterise it Epidemic Cinema traces the evolution of the genre from its early cinematic origins to establish the founding principles of a genre standing at the crossroads between science fiction and horror It draws on close textual analysis to show how the pandemic reified one of the central predicaments of epidemic narratives the constant tension existing between free floating phenomena and the impulse to control and resist such phenomena ultimately epitomised by the trope of the border Showing how infectious diseases offer a rich allegorical frame which cinema uses to articulate timely anxieties of growingly invisible and deterritorialised risks the author presents the prevalence of contagion in popular culture as a symptom of this growingly viral and virus ridden context both in its most literal and metaphorical sense This insightful study will interest students and scholars of film studies global cinema science fiction horror popular culture and genre theory Horror Components Benjamin Lee, AI, 2025-05-05 Horror Components explores the captivating yet terrifying nature of horror narratives by dissecting the psychological mechanisms and structural elements that make them effective It investigates how horror films trigger primal responses exploiting vulnerabilities through suspense surprise and even disgust The book also analyzes narrative components such as plot development and character design as crucial elements for creating lasting horror experiences This book uniquely emphasizes the interplay between psychological principles and narrative strategies It moves beyond cataloging horror tropes to explain why they are effective providing valuable insights for writers For example the book looks at the uncanny valley and fear conditioning The book progresses by first introducing the psychological foundations of horror including the role of empathy Then it delves into the structural elements of horror narratives such as plot archetypes Finally it synthesizes these concepts offering practical guidelines for crafting effective horror narratives and analyzing specific examples from film and television Camera Obscura ,2002 A journal of feminism and film theory
