Identifying Author's Purpose

The Author's purpose is:

- To inform → give us information & facts
To persuade → convince us to believe & try to do something
To entertain → try to make us enjoy the story by keeping our attention towards it.

Directions: Read the short passage of each item and determine the author's main purpose: to inform, persuade, or entertain.

1. The insects are the largest group of animals. In fact, about 75 percent of all animals are insects. Insects developed on Earth long before humans did. Today there are about 1 million known species, or types, of insect. And scientists are constantly discovering new species. Butterflies, beetles, ants, flies, grasshoppers, silverfish, and bees are all insects. Insects live all over the world. For instance, insects can be found in cold regions, hot rain forests, deserts, mountains, caves, and freshwater. A few kinds even live in salt water.

2. I spent half my childhood in Arizona and half in Colorado and neither place has fireflies that light up. Luckily, I got to see lightning bugs every year when my mom took us to visit the relatives in the Midwest. My sister and I loved them! Like most kids, we'd run around the yard collecting them and putting them into jars. My aunt would poke holes in the lids for us and we'd take our glowing jars to bed with us, staring at the beetles until we fell asleep. Of course we'd wake up with a jar full of dead bugs the next morning, but that never seemed to detract from the magic of the experience.
