How ~~are~~ effective is coastal management in protecting the coastline from erosion?

13)

14) Suggest two problems that the students' choice of locations may have caused.

15) Explain how the use of Ordnance Survey (OS) maps might have helped the students choose their two beach locations and the three sites on each of those beaches to carry out the profiles.

This answer uses the material at the top of the page and presents it as a legitimate question, a marks.

Always use the resource.

The first part of this response is unclear although there is a basic idea of 'trouble to drive there', which could be developed to make the point clear and garner a second mark for the point. The second part of this response is explicit about the rocks and the subsequent risks involved, 2 marks.

The most serious things unexplained by using vague terms such as 'hazardous' or 'troublesome' - why might it be 'hazardous'?

There is obviously some familiarity with OS maps and several points are made, although some of these especially clearly. The answer is rather spelt by the persistent references to 'sites' when, certainly in some cases, 'spots' probably intended to say 'spots'. As with many candidates, the distinction between 'site' and 'location' is not made clear in this.
