With further exploration into the major issues that history teachers encounter in their daily professional lives, it provides fresh guidance for thinking and practice for teachers within the UK and beyond. Written by a range of experts in history education, chapters cover all the key issues needed for clear thinking and excellent professional action. This book will enable you to reach informed judgements and argue your point of view with deeper theoretical knowledge and understanding. Debates include: What is happening today in history education? What is the purpose of history teaching? What do history teachers need to know? What are the key trends and issues in international contexts? What is the role of evidence in history teaching and learning? How should you make use of ICT in your lessons? Should moral learning be an aim of history education? How should history learning be assessed? Debates in History Teaching remains essential reading for any student or practising teacher engaged in initial training, continuing professional development or Master's level study.

The Times Index, 2005 Indexes the Times and its supplements How World Events Are Changing Education, 2022-02-07 Listen to the podcast. Education was established to create employees for 19th and 20th century manufacturing models. The 21st century requires a rethink. Change is happening fast with jobs not guaranteed as robots are taking over routines. We must prepare students for uncertainty, higher level employment, helping them think and communicate instead of retain and recall facts for passing exams. Some curricula is either irrelevant for today or gained at the press of a button. Listening and literate talk narratives for collaboratively solving real problems should be the focus, not facts forgotten after tests. The book explores this important debate.
