

BIRD ADAPTATIONS

WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW:

An adaptation is a characteristic that helps a plant or animal survive in its environment. Bird beaks have adapted for many things such as eating, defense, brooding, young, gathering nesting materials, building nests, preening (cleaning), scratching, and attacking.

The size and shape a beak is specific for the type of food the bird gathers. For example, cardinals have heavy, thick bills used to crack seeds, and hummingbirds have thin bills to sip nectar.

Remember that you are a bird. There are five different stations that represent different food sources. At each station there are three different foods that will act as your food. You will need to determine which beak works best for each type of food.
