resources employed and led to the largest operational deployment for the Australian Defence Force since the Vietnam War. This crisis also created a significant rupture in the hitherto carefully managed relationships between Australia and its important neighbor Indonesia. The events of September 1999 ultimately led to the birth of a new nation and the deaths of many people who might have otherwise expected to enjoy that independence. In this major study David Connery examines how the Australian Government at the political and bureaucratic levels developed and managed national security policy in the face of this crisis. The events and the policymaking processes that both led and followed are reconstructed using sixty interviews with key participants. This study identifies certain characteristics of crisis policymaking in Australia that include a dominant executive secrecy, external actors and complexity. Library of Congress Catalogs Library of Congress, 1970
