Planning for Community-oriented Health Systems James E. Rohrer, 1999. The purpose of this book is to acquaint readers with the field of community health planning. Health planners need to blend the objective with the normative, planning data with politics and this book attempts to present both kinds of information. The major functions of planning are addressed: e.g., needs assessment, system design, system performance assessment and quality assessment. Performance indicators of perennial importance are reviewed and examples of planning projects are presented. Practicing planners who have never studied the big picture will find it useful, as will students who are considering the field. In addition, lay participants in planning projects such as planning board members, hospital administrators and other community leaders will find that the book helps them understand what is going on and may suggest alternative approaches.
