

Economics Module 7

To answer the question "for whom?", we must choose the rationing mechanism.

Our choice: Price or non-price

- Price rationing is the most efficient
 - Those who value the good the most and are willing to pay for it receive it
- Non-price rationing is the most equitable
 - Those who "qualify" get a chance of receiving the good

Scarce resources might be allocated by using some combination of the following methods:

- Market price, command, majority rule, contest, first-come first-served, sharing equally, lottery, personal characteristics, force

Individual Demand and Market Demand

- The relationship between the price of a good and the quantity demanded by one person is called individual demand
- The relationship between the price of a good and the quantity demanded by all buyers in the market is called market demand
- Individual demand + Individual demand = market demand (all at the same price)

Consumer Surplus (Net Benefit)

- Consumer surplus is the value of a good minus price, summed over the quantity bought
- Measured by the area under the demand curve and above the price paid, up to the quantity bought
- Triangle created under demand curve and above price paid
- Square under price and demand curves represents how much each person spent

Supply, Cost, and Minimum Supply-Price

- Cost is what the producer gives up, price is what the producer receives (benefit)
- Marginal cost is the minimum price that a firm is willing to accept
- The minimum supply-price determines supply (marginal cost)

Individual Supply and Market Supply

- The relationship between the price of a good and quantity supplied by one producer is called individual supply
- The relationship between the price of a good and quantity supplied by all producers in the market is called market supply

Producer Surplus (Profits)

- The price received for a good minus the minimum-supply price (marginal cost), summed over the quantity sold
- Measured by the area below the market price but above the supply curve, summed over the quantity sold

At the equilibrium quantity, $MB = MC$, so the quantity is the efficient quantity

- When the efficient quantity is produced, total surplus (consumer surplus + producer surplus) is maximized

"Invisible Hand"

- Implies that competitive markets send resources to their highest valued use in society
- Consumers and producers pursue their own self-interest and interact in markets
- Market transactions generate an efficient, highest valued use of resources
