TRANSISTORISED COMMUNICATION RECEIVER

MODEL EC10

INSTRUCTION MANUAL

The EDDYSTONE Model EC10 is a fully transistorised single conversion communication receiver covering the frequency band 550 kc/s to 30 Mc/s in five ranges. Provision is made for AM and CW reception and the unit is powered by a self-contained battery pack.

A total of ten transistors is employed together with five diodes one of which is a zener type which serves to stabilise the supply for the RF section of the receiver. This arrangement helps to maintain a sensibly constant performance with falling battery voltage. Current drain has been kept to a minimum to prolong battery life.

A wide variety of aerials can be accommodated including a small telescopic rod aerial for portable operation. An internal five inch loudspeaker is fitted and arrangements are made for using low impedance telephones where this is more convenient. A push-pull audio output stage is employed and a selective audio filter can be introduced for CW reception under conditions of severe adjacent channel interference.

Independent RF and AF Gain controls are fitted and the other controls include separate BFO and AGC switches and a variable BFO pitch control. The tuning drive is a geared type and is flywheel-loaded for ease of operation. Tuning scales are some nine inches in length and are calibrated directly in terms of frequency. Dial illumination is provided for use when necessary and is controlled by a switch on the panel.

The receiver is light in weight, has contemporary styling with compact dimensions and is housed in a strong metal cabinet. High quality components are used in all parts of the circuit and reliable operation is assured throughout the world.
