

DSM-5 DIAGNOSTIC AND STATISTICAL MANUAL (MENTAL DISORDERS) PART 1

Autism Spectrum Disorder

A. Persistent deficits in social communication and social interaction across multiple contexts, as manifested by the following, currently or by history (examples are illustrative, not exhaustive):

- Deficits in social-emotional reciprocity, ranging, for example, from abnormal social approach and failure of normal back-and-forth conversation; to reduced sharing of interests, emotions, or affect; to failure to initiate or respond to social interactions.
- Deficits in nonverbal communicative behaviors used for social interaction, ranging, for example, from poorly integrated verbal and nonverbal communication; to abnormalities in eye contact and body language or deficits in understanding and use of gestures; to a total lack of facial expressions and nonverbal communication.
- Deficits in developing, maintaining, and understanding relationships, ranging, for example, from difficulties adjusting behavior to suit various social contexts; to difficulties in sharing imaginative play or in making friends; to absence of interest in peers.

Specify current severity:

Severity is based on social communication impairments and restricted, repetitive patterns of behavior

B. Restricted, repetitive patterns of behavior, interests, or activities, as manifested by at least two of the following, currently or by history (examples are illustrative, not exhaustive):

- Stereotyped or repetitive motor movements, use of objects, or speech (e.g., simple motor stereotypies, lining up toys or flipping objects, echolalia, idiosyncratic phrases).
- Insistence on sameness, inflexible adherence to routines, or ritualized patterns of verbal or nonverbal behavior (e.g., extreme distress at small changes, difficulties with transitions, rigid thinking patterns, greeting rituals, need to take same route or eat same food every day).
- Highly restricted, fixated interests that are abnormal in intensity or focus (e.g., strong attachment to or preoccupation with unusual objects, excessively circumscribed or perseverative interests).

- Hyper- or hyporeactivity to sensory input or unusual interest in sensory aspects of the environment (e.g., apparent indifference to pain/temperature, adverse response to specific sounds or textures, excessive smelling or touching of objects, visual fascination with lights or movement).

Specify current severity:

C. Symptoms must be present in the early developmental period (but may not become fully manifest until social demands exceed limited capacities, or may be masked by learned strategies in later life).

D. Symptoms cause clinically significant impairment in social, occupational, or other important areas of current functioning.

E. These disturbances are not better explained by intellectual disability (intellectual developmental disorder) or global developmental delay. Intellectual disability and autism spectrum disorder frequently co-occur; to make comorbid diagnoses of autism spectrum disorder and intellectual disability, social communication should be below that expected for general developmental level.

Note: Individuals with a well-established DSM-IV diagnosis of autistic disorder, Asperger's disorder, or pervasive developmental disorder not otherwise specified should be given the diagnosis of autism spectrum disorder. Individuals who have marked deficits in social communication, but whose symptoms do not otherwise meet criteria for autism spectrum disorder, should be evaluated for social (pragmatic) communication disorder.

Attention-Deficit/Hyperactivity Disorder

A. A persistent pattern of inattention and/or hyperactivity-impulsivity that interferes with functioning or development, as characterized by (1) and/or (2):

- Inattention: Six (or more) of the following symptoms have persisted for at least 6 months to a degree that is inconsistent with developmental level and that negatively impacts directly on social and academic/occupational activities:

Diagnosing the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders is written for all those who wonder whether the DSM V now classifies the right people in the right way It is aimed at patients mental health professionals and academics with an interest in mental health Issues addressed include What are the main changes that have been made to the classification How is the DSM affected by financial links with the pharmaceutical industry To what extent were patients involved in revising the classification How are diagnoses added to the DSM Does medicalisation threaten the idea that anyone is normal What happens when changes to diagnostic criteria mean that people lose their diagnoses How important will the DSM be in the future Provided by publisher

Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders ,1995 Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders ,2013 This is the standard reference for clinical practice in the mental health field Since a complete description of the underlying pathological processes is not possible for most mental disorders it is important to emphasize that the current diagnostic criteria are the best available description of how mental disorders are expressed and can be recognized by trained clinicians The classification of disorders is harmonized with the World Health Organization s International Classification of Diseases ICD the official coding system used in the United States The disorders included in DSM 5 were reordered into a revised organizational structure meant to stimulate new clinical perspectives This new structure corresponds with the organizational arrangement of disorders planned for ICD 11 scheduled for release in 2015 Other enhancements have been introduced to promote ease of use across all settings including Representation of developmental issues related to diagnosis Integration of scientific findings from the latest research in genetics and neuroimaging Consolidation of autistic disorder Asperger s disorder and pervasive developmental disorder into autism spectrum disorder Streamlined classification of bipolar and depressive disorders Restructuring of substance use disorders for consistency and clarity Enhanced specificity for major and mild neurocognitive disorders Transition in conceptualizing personality disorders New disorders and features Online enhancements Publisher description Diagnosing the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders Rachel Cooper,2019-07-31 The Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders more commonly known as the DSM is published by the American Psychiatric Association and aims to list and describe all mental disorders The publication of DSM V in 2013 brought many changes Diagnosing the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders is written

The Conceptual Evolution of DSM-5 Darrel A. Regier,2011 The Conceptual Evolution of DSM 5 highlights recent advances in our understanding of cross cutting factors relevant to psychiatric diagnosis and nosology These include developmental age related aspects of psychiatric diagnosis and symptom presentation underlying neuro circuitry and genetic similarities that may clarify diagnostic boundaries and inform a more etiologically based taxonomy of disorder categories and gender culture specific influences in the prevalence of and service use for psychiatric disorders This text also considers the role of disability in the diagnosis of mental disorders and the potential utility of integrating a dimensional approach to psychiatric diagnosis A powerful reference tool for anyone practicing or studying psychiatry social work psychology or nursing The Conceptual Evolution of DSM 5 details the proceedings from the 2009 American Psychopathological Association's Annual Meeting In its chapters readers will find a thorough review of the empirical evidence regarding the utility of cross cutting factors in nosology as well as specific suggestions for how they may be fully integrated into the forthcoming fifth edition of Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders DSM-IV-TR, 2000 Understanding Mental Disorders American Psychiatric Association, 2015 Based on the fifth edition of the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders this guide provides information on what to expect from an illness and its treatment how to recognize symptoms knowing when to seek help and getting the right care Making the DSM-5 Joel Paris, James Phillips, 2013-05-17 In 2013 the American Psychiatric Association published the 5th edition of its Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders DSM 5 Often referred to as the bible of psychiatry the manual only classifies mental disorders and does not explain them or guide their treatment While science should be the basis of any diagnostic system to date there is no knowledge on whether most conditions listed in the manual are true diseases Moreover in DSM 5 the overall definition of mental disorder is weak failing to distinguish psychopathology from normality In spite of all the progress that has been made in neuroscience over the last few decades the psychiatric community is no closer to understanding the etiology and pathogenesis of mental disorders than it was fifty years ago In Making the DSM 5 prominent experts delve into the debate about psychiatric nosology and examine the conceptual and pragmatic issues underlying the new manual While retracing the historic controversy over DSM considering the political context and economic impact of the manual and focusing on what was revised or left unchanged in the new edition this timely volume addresses the main concerns of the future of psychiatry and questions whether the DSM legacy can truly improve the specialty and advance its goals Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders American Psychiatric Association, 2013

Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders, 1982 A Research Agenda for DSM-V Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorder David J. Kupfer, Michael B. First, Darrel A. Regier, 2002 In the ongoing quest to improve our psychiatric diagnostic system we are now searching for new approaches to understanding the etiological and pathophysiological mechanisms that can improve the validity of our diagnoses and the consequent power of our preventive and treatment interventions venturing beyond the current DSM paradigm and DSM IV framework This thought provoking volume produced as a partnership between the American Psychiatric Association the National Institute of Mental Health the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism and the National Institute on Drug Abuse represents a far reaching attempt to stimulate research and discussion in the field in preparation for the eventual start of the DSM V process still several years hence The book Explores a variety of basic nomenclature issues including the desirability of rating the quality and quantity of information available to support the different disorders in the DSM in order to indicate the disparity of empirical support across the diagnostic system Offers a neuroscience research agenda to guide development of a pathophysiologically based classification for DSM V which reviews genetic brain imaging postmortem and animal model research and includes strategic insights for a new research agenda Presents highlights of recent progress in developmental neuroscience genetics psychology psychopathology and epidemiology using a bioecological perspective to focus on the first two decades of life when rapid changes in behavior emotion and cognition occur Discusses how to address two important gaps in the current DSM IV 1 the categorical method of diagnosing personality disorders and their relationship with Axis I disorders and 2 the limited provision for the diagnosis of relational disorders suggesting a research agenda for personality disorders that considers replacing the current categorical approach with a dimensional classification of personality

Reevaluates the relationship between mental disorders and disability asserting that research into disability and impairment would benefit from the diagnosis of mental disorders be uncoupled from a requirement for impairment or disability to foster a more vigorous research agenda on the etiologies courses and treatment of mental disorders as well as disabilities and to avert unintended consequences of delayed diagnosis and treatment Examines the importance of culture in psychopathology and the main cultural variables at play in the diagnostic process stating that training present and future professionals in the need to include cultural factors in the diagnostic process is a logical step in any attempt to develop comprehensive research programs in psychology psychiatry and related disciplines This fascinating work with contributions from an international group of research investigators reaches into the core of psychiatry providing invaluable background and insights for all psychology and psychiatry professionals food for thought and further research that will be relevant for years to come
