Biotechnological Approaches for Sustainable Development M. Sudhakara Reddy, Sunil Khanna, 2004 Papers presented at the International Conference on Bioconvergence 2004 held at Patiala during 18-20 November 2004 Karch's Drug Abuse Handbook Steven B. Karch, Bruce A. Goldberger, 2002-11-29 Karch's Drug Abuse Handbook Third Edition remains the quintessential compendium addressing the pharmacological, medical and legal aspects of drugs and informing the forensic community of the latest scientific advances and emergent practices. For this edition, Dr. Karch has brought on clinical and forensic toxicology expert Dr. Bruce Goldberger, editor in chief of the Journal of Analytical Toxicology and president of the American Board of Forensic Toxicology, to serve as co-editor. In addition, world-renowned scientists and medical professionals have contributed their work and expertise in tackling the latest developments in drug testing, drug-related medical emergencies and the drug toxicology. Topics addressed include genetic testing in drug death investigation, pathology, toxicogenetics, alcohol, post-mortem toxicology, new psychoactive substances, the latest legal issues and challenges as well as drugs and drug testing in sports and the ethical, legal and practical issues involved. Vivid pictures and diagrams throughout illustrate the pathological effects of drugs and the chemical make-up and breakdown of abused drugs. With unparalleled detail, the latest research and the highest level of authoritative medical/scientific information, the Drug Abuse Handbook Third Edition remains the definitive resource for drug-related issues. Water Pollution X A. M. Marinov, C. A. Brebbia, 2010 Water Pollution 2010 is the 10th International Conference in the series on Modelling, Monitoring and Management of Water Pollution. The conference, which has always been very successful, provides a forum for discussion amongst scientists, managers and academics from different areas of water contamination. The wealth of information exchanged in this international meeting will be of great benefit to all involved with water pollution problems. The environmental problems caused by the increase of pollutant loads discharged into natural water bodies requires the formation of a framework for regulation and control. This framework needs to be based on scientific results that relate pollutant discharge with changes in water quality. The results of these studies allow industries to employ more efficient methods of controlling and treating waste loads and water authorities to enforce appropriate regulations regarding this matter. Commerce Business Daily, 1998-08 The Microbial Regulation of Global Biogeochemical Cycles Johannes Rousk, Per Bengtson, 2014-10-17 Global biogeochemical cycles of carbon and nutrients are increasingly affected by human activities. So far, modeling has been central for our understanding of how this will affect ecosystem functioning and the biogeochemical cycling of carbon and nutrients. These models have been forced to adopt a reductive approach built on the flow of carbon and nutrients between pools that are difficult or even impossible to verify with empirical evidence. Furthermore, while some of these models include the response in physiology, ecology and biogeography of primary producers to environmental change the microbial part of the ecosystem is generally poorly represented or lacking altogether The principal pool of carbon and nutrients in soil is the organic matter The turnover of this reservoir is governed by microorganisms that act as catalytic converters of environmental conditions into biogeochemical cycling of carbon and nutrients The dependency of this conversion activity on individual environmental conditions such as pH moisture and temperature has been frequently studied On the contrary only rarely have the microorganisms involved in carrying out the processes been identified and one of the biggest challenges for advancing our understanding of biogeochemical processes is to identify the microorganisms carrying out a specific set of metabolic processes and how they partition their carbon and nutrient use We also need to identify the factors governing these activities and if they result in feedback mechanisms that alter the growth activity and interaction between primary producers and microorganisms By determining how different groups of microorganisms respond to individual environmental conditions by allocating carbon and nutrients to production of biomass CO₂ and other products a mechanistic as well as quantitative understanding of formation and decomposition of organic matter and the production and consumption of greenhouse gases can be achieved In this Research Topic supported by the Swedish research councils programme Biodiversity and Ecosystem Services in a Changing Landscape BECC we intend to promote this alternative framework to address how cycling of carbon and nutrients will be altered in a changing environment from the first principle mechanisms that drive them namely the ecology physiology and biogeography of microorganisms and on up to emerging global biogeochemical patterns This novel and unconventional approach has the potential to generate fresh insights that can open up new horizons and stimulate rapid conceptual development in our basic understanding of the regulating factors for global biogeochemical cycles The vision for the research topic is to facilitate such progress by bringing together leading scientists as proponents of several disciplines By bridging Microbial Ecology and Biogeochemistry connecting microbial activities at the micro scale to carbon fluxes at the ecosystem scale and linking above and belowground ecosystem functioning we can leap forward from the current understanding of the global biogeochemical cycles
