Education in the Twenty-First Century Donald M. Gooch,Michael T. Rogers,2015-09-18 Imagine an America where politicians governmental institutions schools new technologies and interest groups work together to promote informed engaged citizens Civic Education in the Twenty First Century brings together scholars from various disciplines to show how such a United States is possible today Inspired by Alexis de Tocqueville s analysis of American democracy in the early 1800s this edited volume represents a multidimensional evaluation of civic education in its new and varied forms While some lament a civics crisis in America today Civic Education in the Twenty First Century raises hope that we can have an informed and active citizenry We find the activities of a number of politicians government institutions schools and interest groups as promising developments in the struggle to educate and engage Americans in their democracy New technologies and new innovations in civic education have laid the foundation for a revitalized American civic ecology With Civic Education in the Twenty First Century we call for the United States to make these practices less isolated and more common throughout the country The volume is broken into three major sections First there are four chapters exploring the history and philosophical debates about civic education particularly with respect to its role in America s educational institutions Then the second section provides seven groundbreaking inquiries into how politicians and political institutions can promote civic education and engagement through their routine operations As some examples this section explores how politicians through campaigns and judiciaries through community programs enhance civic knowledge and encourage civic engagement This section also explores how new technologies like the Internet and social media are increasingly used by government institutions and other entities to encourage a more politically informed and engaged citizenry Finally the third section contains six chapters that explore programs and practices in higher education that are enhancing civic education engagement and our knowledge of them From the virtual civics campus of Fort Hayes State to citizens academies throughout the country this section shows the possibilities for schools today to once again be civics actors and promoters Scientists, Experts, and Civic Engagement

Amy E. Lesen, 2016-04-01 How do scientists scholars and other experts engage with the general public and with the communities affected by their work or residing in their sites of study Where are the fine lines between public scholarship civic engagement and activism Must academics give back once they collect data and publish results In this volume authors from a wide range of disciplines examine these relationships to assess how they can be fruitful or challenging Describing the methodological and ethical issues that experts must consider when carrying out public scholarship this book includes a checklist for critical factors of success in engagement and an examination of the role of digital social media in science communication Illustrated by a range of case studies addressing environmental issues climate change resource use post disaster policy and education it offers an investigation into the levels and ways in which scholars can engage and how and whether academics and experts who engage in community work and public scholarship are acknowledged and rewarded for doing so by their institutions Also bringing into the debate the perspective of citizens who have collaborated with academics the book offers an exploration of the democratizing potential of participatory action research How Philanthropy Is

Changing in Europe Christopher Carnie, 2017-01-18 There is a new age of philanthropy in Europe a 50 billion plus financial market Changing attitudes to wealth growing social need and innovations in finance are creating a revolution in how we give aided and sometimes abetted by governments Mapping the changes Christopher Carnie focuses on high value philanthropists people and foundations as major donors investing or donating 25 000 upwards Designed to help people find their way around the sector this book includes interviews with philanthropists advisers and fundraisers and provides practical insider knowledge to access donors and donor information Complete with a substantial appendix of sources this book helps readers understand the revolution in philanthropy in Europe and provides market information for anyone building strategies for fundraising or philanthropy Citizens of Worlds Jennifer Gabrys, 2022-11-15 An unparalleled how to guide to citizen sensing practices that monitor air pollution Modern environments are awash with pollutants churning through the air from toxic gases and intensifying carbon to carcinogenic particles and novel viruses The effects on our bodies and our planet are perilous Citizens of Worlds is the first thorough study of the increasingly widespread use of digital technologies to monitor and respond to air pollution It presents practice based research on working with communities and making sensor toolkits to detect pollution while examining the political subjects relations and worlds these technologies generate Drawing on data from the Citizen Sense research group which worked with communities in the United States and the United Kingdom to develop digital sensor toolkits Jennifer Gabrys argues that citizen oriented technologies promise positive change but then collide with entrenched and inequitable power structures She asks Who or what constitutes a citizen in citizen sensing How do digital sensing technologies enable or constrain environmental citizenship Spanning three project areas this study describes collaborations to monitor air pollution from fracking infrastructure to document emissions in urban environments and to create air quality gardens As these projects show how people respond to care for and struggle to transform environmental conditions informs the political subjects and collectives they become as they strive for more breathable worlds

Higher Education beyond Job Creation Thomas A. Bryer, 2014-05-27 Higher education in the United States and elsewhere is being forced to respond to several disparate social and economic pressures social trust and connectedness is down empathy across citizens is deteriorating political awareness and participation are low and job prospects and financial security are sobering for many citizens even the college educated The response to these pressures is not to double down on one mission of higher education namely job creation Instead higher education marching into the next decades requires an integrative approach that promotes job creation skill development citizen cultivation and knowledge dissemination all oriented towards strengthening communities and providing opportunity for all citizens to pursue the good life Across eight chapters this book provides historical and theoretical analyses of the role of higher education in society across these four missions as well as applied mini and extended case examples demonstrating how the four missions can be successfully integrated The extended cases consist of one pedagogy example a teaching initiative labeled joined up service learning that represents deep partnership between the university and community and an institutional design case of an academic research center and its work conducted in partnership with community stakeholders Recommendations are advanced for an integrated approach to performance funding of higher education institutions tenure and promotion expectations for faculty and graduation requirements for students among others Listen to the author speak on his book for the New Books in Education podcast <http://newbooksineducation.com> 2014 07 17 thomas a bryer higher education beyond job creation universities citizenship and community lexington books 2014
