Claiborne Human Development Family Place Culture:

Human Development Wendy Drewery, Lise Bird Claiborne, 2013-08-27 This text builds on the success of the previous edition. In this edition, Drewery and Claiborne are joined by co-authors who are internationally recognised scholars and researchers in Human Development, which enhances the content by including current and culturally relevant material. It also provides more emphasis on NZ Māori Pasifika content and is able to ensure a solid conceptual foundation through discussions and interesting contemporary examples. Throughout the book, students will find 'What do YOU think' activities that encourage students to think about and apply concepts they are learning to their own lives, allowing them to engage with core concepts on a deeper and personal level. Within each chapter, features include Tutorial suggestions that provide activities and discussion topics designed to promote critical thinking and teamwork skills. They can also be utilised by instructors in tutorials or by students outside the classroom.

Learning Stories Margaret Carr, Wendy Lee, 2012-03-19 Margaret Carr's seminal work on Learning Stories was first published by SAGE in 2001 and this widely acclaimed approach to assessment has since gained a huge international following. In this new full colour book, the authors outline the philosophy behind Learning Stories and refer to the latest findings from the research projects they have led with teachers on learning dispositions and learning power to argue that Learning Stories can construct learner identities in early childhood settings and schools. By making the connection between sociocultural approaches to pedagogy and assessment and narrative inquiry, this book contextualizes Learning Stories as a philosophical approach to education learning and pedagogy. Chapters explore how Learning Stories help make connections with families, support the inclusion of children and family voices, tell us stories about babies, allow children to dictate their own stories, can be used to revisit children's learning journeys, can contribute to teaching and learning wisdom. This ground breaking book expands on the concept of Learning Stories and includes examples from practice in both New Zealand and the UK. It outlines the philosophy behind this pedagogical tool for documenting how learning identities are constructed and shows through research evidence why the early years is such a critical time in the formation of learning dispositions. Margaret Carr is a Professor of Education at the University of Waikato New Zealand Wendy Lee is Director of the Educational Leadership Project New Zealand

Social Work Education Noble, Carolyn, Henrickson, Mark, Han, In Young, 2013-05-16 Social work and social development in the Asia Pacific region continue to grow in new and exciting ways Social work educators are an essential part of shaping social work and development In this second edition we hear four new voices from Cambodia Fiji Japan and Vietnam together with revised and updated chapters from social work educators in Australia China Hong Kong India Korea Nepal and New Zealand Summaries of each chapter are included in Chinese Japanese and Korean as well as in the first language of the author Despite the astonishing diversity of languages cultures philosophies religions economic systems and ways that social work is taught and practised in the region social work in the Asia Pacific is becoming more internationally cohesive At the same time it maintains strong foundations in its local contexts In an increasingly globalised world international social work belongs in every 21st century social work curriculum While this book does not provide all the answers it will help educators and practitioners ask better questions
