Business Studies February March 2015 Memorandum:

A Guide to Federal Contracting Dan Lindner, 2017-10-18 The federal government is the largest buyer of goods and services in the world spending hundreds of billions of dollars per year employing hundreds of thousands of people as civil servants or contractors Yet no textbook is commercially available to discuss how federal contracting is done in a format that is written for the general public as well as the practitioner This publication is intended fill this void to demystify the volumes of regulations and policies and provide in one volume a succinct yet thorough treatment of federal contracting requirements and regulations Bringing together concepts of business law politics public and social policy pricing and procedures for contract placement and administration the author draws on over 30 years of federal government experience to cover the vast spread of this important process which impacts our daily government operations

Business Culture in Putin's Russia John Kennedy, 2021-11-10 This book examines how Russia's entrepreneurs operate in a business environment beset with risk and uncertainty The challenges they may encounter include an unreliable judicial system insecure property rights arbitrary interference from officials as well as corruption harassment suspicion and violence Based on extensive original research including fieldwork within three businesses this book explores how entrepreneurs survive and some thrive It focuses on the kind of obstacles they face from day to day details their motivations rationale and methods and describes the actual relationship between ordinary entrepreneurs and the state providing new insights into business state relations

Unfinished Business Tamim Bayoumi, 2017-09-19 A penetrating critique tracing how under regulated trading between European and U S banks led to the 2008 financial crisis with a prescription for preventing another meltdown There have been numerous books examining the 2008 financial crisis from either a U S or European perspective Tamim Bayoumi is the first to explain how the Euro crisis and U S housing crash were in fact parasitically intertwined Starting in the 1980s Bayoumi outlines the cumulative policy errors that undermined the stability of both the European and U S financial sectors highlighting the catalytic role played by European mega banks that exploited lax regulation to expand into the U S market and financed unsustainable bubbles on both continents U S banks increasingly sold sub par loans to under regulated European and U S shadow banks and when the bubbles burst the losses whipsawed back to the core of the European banking system A much needed fresh look at the origins of the crisis Bayoumi's analysis concludes that policy makers are ignorant of what still needs to be done both to complete the cleanup and to prevent future crises

The EU in the Mediterranean after the Arab Uprisings Roberto Roccu, Benedetta Voltolini, 2020-04-22 By examining a range of policy areas this book aims to assess and qualify the claim that EU policies towards the Arab Mediterranean after the uprisings are predominantly marked by continuity with the past This is attributed to the fact that the EU still acts with the aim of maximising its own security by preserving stability in the region The book explores how security stability and the link between them the security stability nexus are better understood as the master frame shaping the EU's approach towards the Southern Mediterranean and how this affects policy enactment The book shows that the security stability nexus has at least been reframed in the wake of the uprisings but also that more change has occurred in the redefinition of the master frame than in its actual enactment The framing and reframing of the security stability nexus before and after the Arab uprisings depends on the policy area under consideration the variety of actors involved and the forms of their involvement This is also crucially because of the different disposition towards the EU of prominent actors in Arab Mediterranean partner countries which points towards the EU s increasing difficulties to achieve its goals in its near abroad This book was originally published as a special issue of Mediterranean Politics

Global Poverty Andrew Sumner, 2016 An in depth analysis of the global poverty problem and how it is framed and understood The volume questions existing theories of the causes of global poverty and argues that global poverty is gradually becoming a question of national distribution
