Economic Incentives and Bilateral Cooperation William J. Long, 1996 Explores how economic incentives can be used in foreign policy

Engaging India Gary K. Bertsch, Seema Gahlaut, Anupam Srivastava, 1999-07-12 Recent nuclear tests in India and Pakistan make it clear that the US can no longer continue a policy of benign neglect toward India This book engages the key issues for nonproliferation and foreign policy that affect Indo American relations It addresses under explored areas such as missile control and space cooperation chemical and biological weapons and the use of sanctions versus incentives This book goes beyond historical analysis to offer practical recommendations for policymakers in both countries

Whither Ukraine? Scott A. Jones, 2018-05-08 This title was first published in 2002 Examining the development of and rationale behind the Ukrainian export control system this text uses an original theoretically informed case study methodology to explain how and why Ukraine has continued to emphasize the importance of not only maintaining but augmenting its export control system Furthermore it assesses the utility of four international relations approaches in explaining non proliferation export control development This ground breaking study on Ukrainian politics and economics is ideally suited to audiences of European Ukrainian and US policy makers academics and specialists in security and political economy

Chinese Foreign Relations with Weak Peripheral States Jeffrey Reeves, 2015-10-08 This book examines China s relations with its weak peripheral states through the theoretical lens of structural power and structural violence China s foreign policy concepts toward its weak neighbouring states such as the One Belt One Road strategy are premised on the assumption that economic exchange and a commitment to common development are the most effective means of ensuring stability on its borders This book however argues that China's overreliance on economic exchange as the basis for its bilateral relations contains inherently self defeating qualities that have contributed and can further contribute to instability and insecurity within China's periphery Unequal economic exchange between China and its weak neighbours results in Chinese influence over the state's domestic institutions what this book refers to as structural power Chinese structural power in turn can undermine the state's development contribute to social unrest and exacerbate existing state society tensions what this book refers to as structural violence For China such outcomes lead to instability within its peripheral environment and raise its vulnerability to security threats stemming from nationalism separatism terrorism transnational organised crime and drug trafficking among others This book explores the causality between China's economically reliant foreign policy and insecurity in its weak peripheral states and considers the implications for China's security environment and foreign policy This book will be of much interest to students of Chinese politics Asian security studies international political economy and IR in general

Margins for Manoeuvre in Cold War Europe Laurien Crump, Susanna Erlandsson, 2019-11-28 The Cold War is conventionally regarded as a superpower conflict that dominated the shape of international relations between World War II and the fall of the Berlin Wall Smaller powers had to adapt to a role as pawns in a strategic game of the superpowers its course beyond their control This edited volume offers a fresh interpretation of twentieth century smaller European powers East West neutral and non aligned and argues that their position vis vis the superpowers often provided them with an opportunity rather than merely representing a constraint Analysing the margins for manoeuvre of these smaller powers the volume covers a wide array of themes ranging from cultural to economic issues energy to diplomacy and Bulgaria to Belgium Given its holistic and nuanced intervention in studies of the Cold War this book will be instrumental for students of history international relations and political science

Journal of Peace Research ,2006-05 Cases and Strategies for Preventive Action Center for Preventive Action. Conference,1998 This conference volume is the second book in CPA's series of Preventive Action Reports It uses CPA's case studies to examine the effectiveness of the tools of preventive action and draws on comparative studies to guide the analysis of the case studies Issues & Studies ,2006 Peace Research Abstracts Journal ,1999 International Journal of Korean Unification Studies ,2007 Globalization and Global Governance Raimo Väyrynen,1999-04-22 The world is becoming more integrated and interdependent heightening the need for new approaches to global governance How can the international community collectively respond to pressing global problems What kinds of institutions are needed and what kinds of instruments will help them function A distinguished group of international scholars wrestles here with what global governance is and is not_ and with what it might be given a clearer understanding of the challenges and opportunities posed by international financial flows communications technologies environmental threats domestic disorders peacekeeping and intervention and sanctions and incentives Taken together this collection of original essays pays special attention to the prospect for strengthening an institutional world order by encouraging and enforcing compliance with international norms

The Price of Peace David Cortright, 1997 Carrots and sticks have always been used in combination in diplomatic affairs but scholars and policymakers have focused more on the sticks than the carrots In this provocative study policy savvy scholars examine a wide range of cases from North Korea to South Africa to El Salvador and Bosnia to demonstrate the power of incentives to deter nuclear proliferation prevent armed conflict defend civil and human rights and rebuild war torn societies The book addresses the moral hazard of incentives the danger that they can be construed as bribes concessions or appeasement Incentives can take many forms economic and political as palpable as fuel oil and as intangible yet powerful as diplomatic recognition and constructive engagement The cases demonstrate that incentives can sometimes succeed when traditional methods threats sanctions or force fail or are too dangerous to apply

Global Technology Transfer John Chumack, 2002 Governments the world over fret continuously about the low level of transfer of technology especially within their own countries The general problem is military to industry although the variations are numerous Problems of presentation offering and support complicate an already byzantine world Yet somewhere within this dilemma lie the seeds of tomorrow s economic uptick Besides the nontrivial problems involved here the reluctance of the people having the technology to share it with someone who can profit from it stands out This book presents the issues and offers a comprehensive bibliography for easy access

The Political Economy of Transitions to Peace Galia Press-Barnathan, 2009 How is peace actually achieved reinforced and made permanent This is the question that this book tackles as the author examines the outcomes of a series of conflicts in the Middle East Asia and Europe from 1945 to the present The insights and lessons emerging from these cases and drawn out by Press Barnathan s analysis will help scholars and decision makers to better understand and more skillfully manage transitions to peace in present day conflicts

International Cooperation on Export Controls Michael Leslie Lipson, 1999 This dissertation provides an explanation for recent standardization and growth of international export control regimes I argue that neoinstitutionalist organization theory contributes to an explanation of these organizations which coordinate efforts to limit the spread of weapons related technologies The neoinstitutionalist approach claims that organizational structures are often not selected for maximal effectiveness at tasks such as controlling weapons related exports Rather they are selected for their fit with norms shared within communities of organizations that interact regularly or share common tasks The dissertation adapts and applies this literature to the subject of export control cooperation through process tracing case studies of export control regimes such as CoCom and the Wassenaar Arrangement I argue that a transnational community of organizations or organizational field has developed in the issue area of nonproliferation export controls While extant theories of International Relations help explain the origins of international export control cooperation

they do not explain the extent or form such efforts have taken today Shared norms in this issue area and copying of organizations perceived as successful explain the growth and standardization of multilateral nonproliferation regimes and international export control practices These factors are highlighted by the sociological theories I draw upon The case studies are constructed from archival data interviews with policy makers trade literature and secondary sources Regional
