Daily Graphic Ransford Tetteh, 2014-04-15      Daily Graphic Kingsley Inkoom, 2014-09-02      Development Economics in Action Tony Killick, 1978-01-01      The Economy of Ghana Sixty Years After Independence Ernest Aryeetey, S. M. Ravi Kanbur, 2017 This volume assesses the challenges facing Ghana's economy as it enters its seventh decade and the nation heads towards three quarters of a century of independence      Welfare Economics, Political Economy and Policy Reform in Ghana S. M. Ravi Kanbur, 1994      Graduate Training in Economics in Nigeria and Ghana Simeon Ibidayo Ajayi, 1990      The economic costs of COVID-19 in Sub-Saharan Africa: Insights from a simulation exercise for Ghana Amewu, Sena, Asante, Seth, Pauw, Karl, Thurlow, James, 2020-06-12 The objective in this paper is to estimate the economic costs of COVID-19 policies and external shocks in a developing country context with a focus on agri-food system impacts. Ghana is selected as a case study. Ghana recorded its first two cases of COVID-19 infection on 12 March 2020. The government responded by gradually introducing social distancing measures, travel restrictions, border closures and eventually a partial two-week partial lockdown in the country's largest metropolitan areas of Accra and Kumasi. Social distancing measures have been enforced nationwide and include bans on conferences, workshops and sporting and religious events as well as the closure of bars and nightclubs. All educational institutions are also closed. The partial lockdown measures in urban areas directed all residents to remain home except for essential business, prohibited non-essential inter-city travel and transport and only essential manufacturing and services operations were permitted to continue. The Presidency, 2020. At the time the lockdown was announced, Ghana's Ministry of Finance revised its GDP growth estimate for 2020 downwards from 6.8 to 1.5 percent. MoF, 2020. Although the Minister warned that growth could fall further if lockdown measures were extended. The lockdown was initially extended for a third week but was officially lifted on 20 April. Social distancing measures remain in place nationwide although a gradual easing of restrictions commenced in June. Ghana's borders remain closed at the time of writing.      The Economy of Ghana Mozammel Huq, Michael Tribe, 2018-09-12 The book follows a first edition published in 1989 which focused on the severe economic crisis Ghana faced during the late 1970s and the early 1980s. In this second edition, the authors extend the review up to the mid-2010s, covering the entire period since independence with a special focus on shifts in economic policy starting with the adoption of the Economic Recovery Programme in 1983. Huq and Tribe provide systematic coverage of Ghanaian economic development since its independence, reviewing the two main modes of development that have been practiced and offer an updated rich data bank. By analyzing the wider macroeconomy of Ghana, its individual sectors, money banking and trade infrastructure and environmental policies and Ghana's poverty, welfare and income distribution, the authors are able to draw vital lessons from the country's economic development.      Economic Reforms in Ghana Ernest Aryeetey, Jane Harrigan, Machiko Nissanke, 2000 Reviews the performance of the Ghanaian economy for the period 1983 to 1991 aimed at assessing the impact of structural adjustment policies in different areas of the economy.

The Cultural Foundations of Economic Development Emily Chamlee-Wright, 2002-11-01 Chalmlee Wright argues that international aid programmes have often been unsuccessful because they are imported. The economics of the Austrian School provide a far stronger theoretical framework which can introduce cultural analysis into questions of economic development and other market processes.

The Economy in Ghana Ernest Aryeetey, S. M. Ravi Kanbur, 2007-01-01 The contributors set out an analytical agenda as the basis of the course that the nation's policy makers will have to steer if Ghana is to fulfil the promise at its independence in 1957.

The Economy of Ghana Ernest Aryeetey, S. M. Ravi Kanbur, 2008 As Ghana enters its second half century there is a perception of the failure of the economic and political system. This book analyses the reasons for this failure and sets out an agenda as the basis of the course that the nation's policy makers have to steer if Ghana is to fulfil the promise of its independence in 1957.

Ghana Donald Iain Ray, 1986

The Changing Economy of the Lower Volta 1954-67 Rowena M. Lawson, 2018-08-16 Originally published in 1972 this study analyses the process of economic growth and social change in the riparian communities of the Lower Volta River in Ghana which came about in large part due to the construction of the Volta dam in 1963. With its completion many of the riparian communities were denied the economic advantages of natural irrigation and water flow for inland fisheries although they did benefit through the emergence of a valuable lake fishery. The study found that the socio economic preconditions for a rise in the standard of living had been building up over some time and many social economic and political forms of change had been introduced to change the previous static equilibrium. Such influences began to erode the hitherto unquestioned acceptance of traditional institutions and the stability and security they offered.
