Randomized Control Trials in the Field of Development Florent Bédécarrats, Isabelle Guérin, François Roubaud, 2020-09-17 In October 2019 Abhijit Banerjee Esther Duflo and Michael Kremer jointly won the 51st Sveriges Riksbank Prize in Economic Sciences in Memory of Alfred Nobel for their experimental approach to alleviating global poverty But what is the exact scope of their experimental method known as randomized control trials RCTs Which sorts of questions are RCTs able to address and which do they fail to answer The first of its kind Randomized Control Trials in the Field of Development A Critical Perspective provides answers to these questions explaining how RCTs work what they can achieve why they sometimes fail how they can be improved and why other methods are both useful and necessary Bringing together leading specialists in the field from a range of backgrounds and disciplines economics econometrics mathematics statistics political economy socioeconomics anthropology philosophy global health epidemiology and medicine it presents a full and coherent picture of the main strengths and weaknesses of RCTs in the field of development Looking beyond the epistemological political and ethical differences underlying many of the disagreements surrounding RCTs it explores the implementation of RCTs on the ground outside of their ideal theoretical conditions and reveals some unsuspected uses and effects their disruptive potential but also their political uses The contributions uncover the implicit worldview that many RCTs draw on and disseminate and probe the gap between the method's narrow scope and its success while also proposing improvements and alternatives Without disputing the contribution of RCTs to scientific knowledge Randomized Control Trials in the Field of Development warns against the potential dangers of their excessive use arguing that the best use for RCTs is not necessarily that which immediately springs to mind Written in plain language this book offers experts and laypeople alike a unique opportunity to come to an informed and reasoned judgement on RCTs and what they can bring to development

The Role of Coloniality, Decoloniality, and Education in Shaping Perspectives on Extremism Helal Hossain Dhali, 2024-03-19 This book extends a comprehensive overview of the treatment of extremism in education in Bangladesh using a study of perceptions among students to explore proactive measures for the prevention of various types and forms of extremism prevalent among youth It offers a critical holistic and student centred study of the role of formal education in shaping perceptions of extremism and intersectional differences among individuals drawing on data from university students The author employs post colonial theory and multicultural educational approaches to highlight how understandings of extremism differ across young adults and policymakers Ultimately it demonstrates that students overall understanding of extremism is much broader than that of policymakers and how understandings differ between male and female students at the intersection of rural and urban locations and socio economic positions As such it foregrounds a need to involve and organize formal education as a proactive means to raise awareness and counter all forms of extremism through incorporating specific teaching strategies into pedagogical practices to foster an anti communalist humanistic critical multicultural and cosmopolitan outlook among students It will appeal to scholars and researchers with interests across multicultural education comparative and international education the sociology of education extremism and conflict and peace studies
