Carpe Diem Robert A. Rohland,2022-12-01 Carpe diem eat drink and be merry for tomorrow we die is a prominent motif throughout ancient literature and beyond This is the first book length examination of its significance and demonstrates that close analysis can make a key contribution to a question that is central to literary studies in and beyond Classics how can poetry give us the almost magical impression that something is happening here and now In attempting an answer Robert Rohland gives equal attention to Greek and Latin texts as he offers new interpretations of well known poems from Horace and tackles understudied epigrams Pairing close readings of ancient texts along with interpretations of other forms of cultural production such as gems cups calendars monuments and Roman wine labels this interdisciplinary study transforms our understanding of the motif of carpe diem

Acculturation International Comparative Literature Association. Congress,Eva Kushner,1994 The subject of acculturation lies at the heart of Comparative Literature in its relationship to cultural studies It attempts to capture and to articulate the nature of the interaction of cultures through literary texts In the past acculturation has often manifested itself through the dominance of an invading or invasive culture over another in fact it has not infrequently been synonymous with the subjection of non European cultures to Western civilization Yet it can be shown that the receptor culture far from being passive has the ability to appropriate and transform the invader culture which in turn undergoes acculturation a dynamic of great complexity never at a standstill Many of the phenomena described in this volume relate to the second type of acculturation which is no longer a more or less official program of enforced cultural adaptation but a far more pervasive and spontaneous movement of feedback which can indeed be reciprocal and eventually lead to intercultural dialogue Been There, Should've Done that II Suzette Tyler,2001 Contains advice from students on how to make the most of the college years discussing money roommates orientation grade point averages how to choose courses note taking partying and other topics
