

5 Points of Darwin's Natural Selection

Read the following situations below and identify the 5 points of Darwin's natural selection.

- 1) There are 2 types of worms: worms that eat at night (nocturnal) and worms that eat during the day (diurnal). The birds eat during the day and seem to be eating ONLY the diurnal worms. The nocturnal worms are in their burrows during this time. Each spring when the worms reproduce, they have about 500 babies but only 100 of these 500 ever become old enough to reproduce.

- a. What worm has natural selection selected AGAINST? diurnal worms FOR? nocturnal worms
- b. Darwin's 5 points: Identify the 5 points in the scenario above.
- Population has variations. There are 2 types of worms in the area (diurnal and nocturnal)
- Some variations are favorable. Birds do not eat nocturnal worms (nocturnal worms advantage)
- More offspring are produced than survive. 100 of the original 500 worms survive to reproduce
- Those that survive have favorable traits. More nocturnal worms survive and reproduce
- A population will change over time. Nocturnal worm population increases; diurnal worm population decreases

- 2) There are 3 types of polar bears: ones with thick coats, ones with thin coats and ones with medium coats. It is fall, soon to be winter. The temperatures are dropping rapidly and the bears must be kept warm, or they will freeze to death. Many of the bears have had 2 cubs each but due to the extreme temperatures, many mothers only have one cub left.

- a. What bear will natural selection select AGAINST? thin coats FOR? thick coats
- b. Darwin's 5 points: Identify the 5 points in the scenario above.
- Population has variations. There are 3 types of bears (thick, medium, and thin)

Natural Selection Theory in Non-majors' Biology Dianne Leigh Anderson, 2003 Evolution by natural selection is the dominant and unifying theme in biology yet many college students hold alternative conceptions about the topic even after completing general biology To develop effective instructional strategies and track conceptual understanding it is useful to have a detailed assessment tool easily used with large classes This study presents the Conceptual Inventory of Natural Selection CINS a distractor driven twenty item multiple choice test that assesses understanding of ten concepts related to natural selection biotic potential stable populations limited natural resources limited survival variation within a population variation inherited differential survival change in populations origin of variation and origin of species Development refinement and field testing of individual CINS items are presented and validity readability reliability and factor analysis of the CINS are described There was significant correlation between student performance on the posttest CINS and end of semester interviews suggesting that the CINS is a useful classroom tool The CINS was used as both a pretest and posttest to determine relative difficulty of the concepts among college students The three most challenging concepts were random origin of variation how populations change over time due to changing proportions of alleles and how new species originate Many students chose distractors including need as a driving force Results support the use of non traditional methods as only students in such classes demonstrated any improvement on the CINS posttest Pre and posttesting with the CINS was also used to assess relative effectiveness of using two types of supplemental reading materials selections from narrative non textbook sources or from other general biology textbooks in a general biology course These results suggest that specific content of readings was more important than style of the readings Implications for teaching both students and pre service teachers are described Evolution Education Re-considered Ute Harms, Michael J. Reiss, 2019-07-16 This collection presents research based interventions using existing knowledge to produce new pedagogies to teach evolution to learners more successfully whether in schools or elsewhere Success here is measured as cognitive gains as acceptance of evolution or an increased desire to continue to learn about it Aside from introductory and concluding chapters by the editors each chapter consists of a research based intervention intended to enable evolution to be taught successfully all these interventions have been researched and evaluated by the chapters authors and the findings are presented along with discussions of the implications The result is an important compendium of studies from around the world conducted both inside and outside of school The volume is unique and provides an essential reference point and platform for future work for the foreseeable future
