, The Origins of Catholic Evolutionism, 1831-1950 Kenneth W. Kemp, 2025 The history of the Catholic Church's response to evolutionary biology has often been badly misrepresented as antagonistic. In fact its response is better characterized as a long process of accommodation. This work is a comprehensive introduction to the work of the Catholic scientists and theologians who worked out the details of that accommodation. Few Catholics found the evolutionary origin of plant and animal species theologically objectionable. None thought that evolutionary processes provided a sufficient account of the origin of the first human beings. Catholics differed over whether those processes played a role in the origin of the first human body. Catholic evolutionism began with the work of four nineteenth century scientists who might be called the pioneers of Catholic evolutionism: Belgian geologist Jean Baptiste d Omalius d Halloy, English anatomist George Mivart, Italian anatomist Filippo De Filippi and French paleontologist Albert Gaudry. The next generations of Catholic evolutionists writing in the period from about 1890-1940 included scientists, Jesuit entomologists Erich Wasmann and Felix R. Schkamp, as well as priests who focused more exclusively on the question of compatibility: Dalmace Leroy, John Zahm, Henry de Dorlodot and Ernest Messenger. Among the scientists might also be included French paleontologist Pierre Teilhard de Chardin who made some contributions to the general idea of the compatibility of evolutionary biology and Catholic theology but who eventually veered off in the direction of a comprehensive evolutionary theology of nature, the details of which are beyond the scope of this book. Catholic anti evolutionists made efforts to have the Church prohibit works of Catholic evolutionism that in their judgment gave evolutionary processes too great a role in the formation of the human body or that relied on problematic principles of hermeneutics. Efforts on the former front were eventually blocked by Pope Pius XI. The first magisterial statement on the question came however only in 1950 with Pope Pius XII's encyclical Humani generis which provisionally declared the orthodoxy of evolutionary accounts of the origin of the human body. In addition to providing details about Catholic evolutionists and the magisterium, the book also reviews the treatment of the new ideas in Catholic encyclopedias, periodicals and textbooks. Although written in the first instance as a work of scholarship, the book was also written with attention to the needs of scientists, priests and members of the general public who are interested in the question.

Polish Camp Literature Arkadiusz Morawiec, 2025-03-07 Polish Camp Literature expands the boundaries of Polish camp literature which has so far been defined too narrowly. This restricted outlook has been determined by politics, ideology, the scarcity of historical knowledge, the lack of literary research and frequent manipulation concerning terms such as concentration camp, forced labor camp and death camp. Camp literature was initially limited to Lager literature pertaining to Nazi German camps. Over time gulag literature pertaining to Soviet camps came to be included as well. It turns out that Polish camp literature is much more extensive and richer. This volume consists of mini monographs on Polish literary works concerning either a specific camp or a specific type/system of camps. The chapters devoted to gulag literature include texts about the Solovetsky

Special Purpose Camp and Lager literature i.e texts about Konzentrationslager Buchenwald expand on established findings while the following chapters deal with topics previously unexplored namely the literature relating to Polish camps such as the prewar Place of Isolation in Bereza Kartuska and the postwar communist concentration and labor camps in ambinowice and Jaworzno the Spanish Francoist Campo de Concentraci n de Miranda de Ebro and the Japanese Unit 731 and its research center in Pingfang Manchuria which included on top of laboratories and chemical and bacteriological weapons production units a prison a gas chamber and crematoria This book is intended to provide the impetus not just for further investigation into the unknown and insufficiently recognized areas of Polish camp literature but also through embedding the Polish literary output in the context of other national literatures and by means of their cross comparison for charting a map of world camp literature

Charles Williams and C. S. Lewis Paul S. Fiddes,2021 This study of the literary relationship between Charles Williams and C S Lewis during the years 1936 1945 focuses on the theme of co inherence at the centre of their friendship The idea of co inherence has long been recognized as an important contribution of Williams to theology and had significant influence on the thought of Lewis This account of the two writers conviction that human persons inhere or dwell both in each other and in the triune God reveals many inter relationships between their writings that would otherwise be missed It also shows up profound differences between their world views and a gradual though incomplete convergence onto common ground Exploring the idea of co inherence throws light on the fictional worlds they created as well as on their treatment whether together or separately of a wide range of theological and literary subjects the Arthurian tradition the poetry of William Blake and Thomas Traherne the theology of Karl Barth the nature of human and divine love and the doctrine of the Trinity This study draws for the first time on transcriptions of Williams lectures from 1932 to 1939 tracing more clearly the development and use of the idea of co inherence in his thought than has been possible before Finally an account of the use of the word co inherence in English speaking theology suggests that the differences that existed between Lewis and Williams especially on the place of analogy and participation in human experience of God might be resolved by a theology of co inherence in the Trinity
