

AC Motor Adjustable Speed Range CapabilitiesInverter Drive® and Vector Drive® Motors

Baldor Inverter Drive® and Vector Drive® Motors exceed all requirements of NEMA MG-1 Parts 30 and 31 for AC induction motors powered from adjustable speed controls. Definite-Purpose Inverter-Fed Polyphase Motors, as defined for Inverter Drive Motors are suitable for variable torque applications and rated 1000:1 for constant torque (except for those Inverter Duty motors rated for use in hazardous locations). Vector Drive motors are capable of full, rated torque at 0 RPM, continuous duty. Satisfactory motor performance depends on proper drive setup.

It is necessary that motor-drive applications are commissioned by persons familiar with the operation and setup of adjustable speed drives, applicable electrical codes and any other regulations. Each drive must be tuned to the motor for the specific application. System operating parameters must be checked, including voltage at motor power leads, to insure that motor/drive set up has been successfully completed. Applications that are not properly set up can lead to substandard performance and failure of system components.

Super-E® Motors

All Baldor Super-E motors are Inverter-Ready and meet NEMA MG 1 Part 31.4.4.2. Super-E motors are suitable for use with inverter drives in applications with variable torque and with a constant torque 20:1 speed range except as noted below. Motor-inverter setup is unique to each specific application. Setup and correct wiring procedures must be closely followed.

Standard-E® Motors

Baldor Standard-E® EPA2 efficient motors are suitable for use in adjustable speed applications per NEMA MG 1 Part 30. With proper motor-inverter setup, Standard-E motors are suitable for use at 20:1 variable torque and 4:1 constant torque applications.

Note: Use of explosion proof motors with inverters should be limited to Inverter-Duty Explosion proof motors only.
