

1.0 Description

The DS 150i is a passive-infrared detector designed for request-to-exit (REX) applications. It is UL Listed as an access control device under the UL 294 standard and is listed for Class I for UL, Canada (ULC-S 319). For C-UL listed installation applications, the REX shall be connected to ULC-S 319 listed compatible devices (i.e., control units, power supply and locks). Intended for indoor use only.

The relay output consists of two form "C" contacts that can be adjusted to latch from approximately 0.5 sec to 64 sec. The latch time features two modes of operation: resettable (R) and non-resettable (NR). The relay can also be programmed to fail safe or fail secure during a power loss.

You can mount the DS 150i on the ceiling or wall and aim and/or mask its pattern for more effective use based on installation needs. The DS 150i is not designed as the primary means of exit for emergency egress applications.

The DS 150i is available in a light grey (DS 150i) or a black (DS151i) enclosure. An optional trimplate is also available in light grey (TP 150i) and black (TP 151i).

2.0 Mounting

- Select a mounting location over the center of the door or doors to be covered. The target must walk directly toward the detector. Mount the detector on the ceiling, wall, or door frame. The detector can be surface mounted or mounted to a keyswitch plate with a "D" size hole.

The DS150i is not tall enough to completely cover a single gang box. Where aesthetics are important, mount using the optional trimplate (TP150i or TP151i). Refer to Figure 1 for additional instructions for mounting with the trimplate.

The arrows on the base indicate its correct mounting orientation relative to the door.

The mounting height range is from 7 ft to 15 ft (2.1 m to 4.6 m) above the floor.

- Remove the back cover from the detector. Insert the head of a small straight-edge screwdriver into the locking tab and pry the back cover off.

When the back cover is removed, the front cover and detector module separate.

- Route the wiring as necessary through the wiring entrance (refer to Figure 2). For surface wiring, use the break out wiring entrance on the front cover (at the same end as the wire entrance).
- Loosely mount the back cover to the mounting surface using the supplied mounting screws.
- Mount the detector module to the back cover. Aim the detector for the desired coverage.

Coil excess wiring behind the back cover along the channels provided.
