

CASE STUDY TEMPLATE

Demonstrating mentoring and befriending makes a real difference to people's lives

The national body for mentoring and befriending

Why do we collect case studies?

To showcase the effect mentoring and befriending can have on people's lives. Be that the mentee or befriendees' lives, the mentor or befriender's lives, or how the wider community as a whole benefits.

Not everyone, unfortunately, understands exactly what mentoring and befriending involve. But, having case studies to refer people to, helps to bring to life some of the roles mentors and befrienders play in people's lives. We hope that through people reading case studies it will prompt them to set up, fund or commission mentoring or befriending projects.

What do we want from you?

We want you to fill in this case study template detailing the positive impact that your mentoring or befriending project is making. Please provide an overall picture of how your project operates, including information about one relationship – one mentee/mentor or one befriender/befriended – detailing how a person has changed as a result of it. The focus should be on the outcomes and achievements brought about through the mentoring or befriending relationship. Take a look at the 'example case study' document to guide you in filling this in. Please contact joe.mu@vhill@mandbf.org for help in filling this in.

Where will the case study be used?

The case study will appear on our website (www.mandbf.org) and we may show it to interested parties; be they people looking to set up projects, funders and commissioners, or the media.

A Case for the Case Study Joe R. Feagin, Anthony M. Orum, Gideon Sjoberg, 2016-08-01 Since the end of World War II social science research has become increasingly quantitative in nature A Case for the Case Study provides a rationale for an alternative to quantitative research the close investigation of single instances of social phenomena The first section of the book contains an overview of the central methodological issues involved in the use of the case study method Then well known scholars describe how they undertook case study research in order to understand changes in church involvement city life gender roles white collar crimes family structure homelessness and other types of social experience Each contributor confronts several key questions What does the case study tell us that other approaches cannot To what extent can one generalize from the study of a single case or of a highly limited set of cases Does case study work provide the basis for postulating broad principles of social structure and behavior The answers vary but the consensus is that the opportunity to examine certain kinds of social phenomena in depth enables social scientists to advance greatly our empirical understanding of social life The contributors are Leon Anderson Howard M Bahr Theodore Caplow Joe R Feagin Gilbert Geis Gerald Handel Anthonly M Orum Andree F Sjoberg Gideon Sjoberg David A Snow Ted R Vaughan R Stephen Warner Christine L Williams and Norma Williams
