The evaluator is hereby tasked with answering the following five (5) questions and providing a reason for his/her answer.

Question 1: Is the teacher able to show mastery of the lessons?

Yes, the teacher was able to show mastery of the lessons she was discussing for that certain class. She was able to handle all the questions of the students and right before she gave an activity to test the student's learning and mastery, she was able to give a comprehensive synthesis of the entire discussion.

Question 2: Is the teacher able to create an environment that is open and welcoming for the students?

Yes, the environment of the classroom and the class were very welcoming and open. When the teacher entered the class, she did not immediately start with the discussion, nor did she grill the students about what they learned from the last meeting. Explorations in Classroom Observation Michael Stubbs, Sara Delamont, 1976 The Reliability of Classroom Observations by School Personnel. Research Paper. MET Project Andrew D. Ho, Thomas J. Kane, 2013 For many teachers the classroom observation has been the only opportunity to receive direct feedback from another school professional As such it is an indispensable part of every teacher evaluation system Yet it also requires a major time commitment from teachers principals and peer observers To justify the investment of time and resources a classroom observation should be both accurate and reliable In this paper the authors evaluate the accuracy and reliability of school personnel in performing classroom observations The authors also examine different combinations of observers and lessons observed that produce reliability of 0.65 or above when using school personnel They asked principals and peers in Hillsborough County Florida to watch and score videos of classroom teaching for 67 teacher volunteers using videos of lessons captured during the 2011-12 school year Each of 129 observers provided 24 scores on lessons provided to them yielding more than 3,000 video scores for this analysis The authors briefly summarize seven key findings 1 Observers rarely used the top or bottom categories unsatisfactory and advanced on the four point observation instrument 2 Compared to peer raters administrators differentiated more among teachers 3 Administrators rated their own teachers 0.1 points higher than administrators from other schools and 0.2 points higher than peers 4 Although administrators scored their own teachers higher their rankings were similar to the rankings produced by others outside their schools 5 Allowing teachers to choose their own videos generated higher average scores However the relative ranking of teachers was preserved whether videos were chosen or not 6 When an observer formed a positive or negative impression of a teacher in the first several videos that impression tended to linger and 7 There are a number of different ways to ensure reliability of 0.65 or above The authors conclude by discussing the implications for the design of teacher evaluation systems in practice Contains 7 figures 10 tables and 21 footnotes
