International Handbook on Responsible Innovation René von Schomberg, Jonathan Hankins, 2019 The Handbook constitutes a global resource for the fast growing interdisciplinary research and policy communities addressing the challenge of driving innovation towards socially desirable outcomes This book brings together well known authors from the US Europe and Asia who develop conceptual and regional perspectives on responsible innovation as well as exploring the prospects for further implementation of responsible innovation in emerging technological practices ranging from agriculture and medicine to nanotechnology and robotics The emphasis is on the socio economic and normative dimensions of innovation including issues of social risk and sustainability Crop Production and Global Environmental Issues Khalid Rehman

Hakeem, 2015-12-08 Meeting the world's food security challenge will require a multi national collaborative effort to integrate the best research from science engineering and socioeconomics so that technological advances can bring benefits where they are most needed The present book covers the effect of major environmental problems on crop production and how to cope with these issues for sustainable agriculture and improvements of crops The world's population is predicted to hit 9.6 Billion by 2050 up from today's total of nearly 7.3 Billion and with it food demand is predicted to increase substantially The post war second agricultural revolution in developed countries and the green revolution in developing nations in the mid 1960s converted agricultural practices and elevated crop yields spectacularly but the outcome is levelling off and will not meet projected demand Simultaneously crop production is affected by many other factors including industrial pollution overuse of fertilizers and insecticides heavy metal and radiation stresses etc It has been noted that many pests are becoming resistant to insecticides Estimates vary but around 25% of crops can be lost to pests and diseases Climate change associated with agriculture is also a global issue Agriculture is a significant contributor to greenhouse gases and is estimated to account for 10-12% of total greenhouse gas GHG emissions Many of the issues highlighted are global problems and are addressed thoroughly in this work Sustainable Agriculture in the Era of the OMICs Revolution Channa S. Prakash, Sajid

Fiaz, Muhammad Azhar Nadeem, Faheem Shehzad Baloch, Abdul Qayyum, 2023-01-01 Access to food with enough calories and nutrients is a fundamental right of every human The global population has exceeded 7.8 billion and is expected to pass 10 billion by 2055 Such rapid population increase presents a great challenge for food supply More grain production is needed to provide basic calories for humans Thus it is crucial to produce 60-110% more food to fill the gap between food production and the demand of future generations Meanwhile food nutritional values are of increasing interest to accommodate industrialized modern lives The instability of food production caused by global climate change presents another great challenge The global warming rate has become more rapid in recent decades with more frequent extreme climate change including higher temperatures drought and floods Our world faces various unprecedented scenarios such as rising temperatures which causes melting glaciers and the resulting various biotic and abiotic stresses ultimately leading to food scarcity In these circumstances it is of utmost importance to examine the genetic basis and extensive utilization of germplasm to develop climate resilient cultivars through the application of plant breeding and biotechnological tools Future crops must adapt to these new and unpredictable environments Crop varieties resistant to biotic and abiotic stresses are also needed as plant disease insects drought high and low temperature stresses are expected to be impacted by climate change Thus we need a food production system that can simultaneously satisfy societal demands and long term development Since the Green Revolution in the 1960s farming has been heavily dependent on high input of nitrogen and pesticides This leads to environmental pollution which is not sustainable in the long run Therefore a new breeding scheme is urgently needed to enable sustainable agriculture including new strategies to develop varieties and crops that have high yield potential high yield stability and superior grain quality and nutrition while also using less consumption of water fertilizer and chemicals in light of environmental protection While we face these challenges we also have great opportunities especially with flourishing developments in omics technologies High quality reference genomes are becoming available for a larger number of species with some species having more than one reference genome The genome wide re sequencing of diverse varieties enables the identification of core and pan genomes An integration of omics data will enable a rapid and high throughput identification of many genes simultaneously for a relevant trait This will change our current research paradigm fundamentally from single gene analysis to pathway or network analysis This will also expand our understanding of crop domestication and improvement In addition with the knowledge gained from omics data in combination with new technologies like targeted gene editing we can breed new varieties and crops for sustainable agriculture

Sustainable Agriculture in the Era of Climate Change Rajib Roychowdhury, Shuvasish Choudhury, Mirza Hasanuzzaman, Sangeeta Srivastava, 2020-08-25 Under ongoing climate changes natural and cultivated habitats of major crops are being continuously disturbed Such conditions impose and exacerbate abiotic and biotic stressors Drought salinity flood cold heat heavy metals metalloids oxidants irradiation etc are important abiotic stressors while diseases and infections caused by plant pathogens such as fungal agents bacteria and viruses are major biotic stresses In many instances stresses have become the major limiting factor for agricultural productivity and exert detrimental role on growth and yield of the crops To help feed an ever increasing world population and to ensure global food security concerted efforts from scientists and researchers have identified strategies to manage and mitigate the impacts of climate induced stresses This book summarizing their findings is aimed at crop improvement beyond such kind of barriers by agronomic practices genetics breeding phenotyping etc and biotechnological applications including molecular markers QTL mapping genetic engineering transgenesis tissue culture various omics technologies and gene editing It will cover a wide range of topics under environmental challenges agronomy and agriculture processes and biotechnological approaches Additionally fundamental mechanisms and applied information on stress responses and tolerance will be discussed This book highlights problems and offers proper solutions for crop stress management with recent information and up to date citations We believe this book is suitable for scientists researchers and students working in the fields of agriculture plant science environmental biology and biotechnology      Agricultural Production Response and Cost Structures Jeff Davis, Ma Cynthia Bantilan, 1991
