Generation, Transmission and Application of Electricity ,1924 Raptors in Human Landscapes David M. Bird,Daniel E. Varland,Juan Jose Negro,1996-02-08 This book is a collection of papers highlighting ways in which Raptors have successfully adapted to man made landscapes and structures The coverage of Raptors in Human Landscapes is broad ranging from the impact of human activity on country wide scales to the particular conditions associated with urban cultivated and industrial landscapes as well as to the various schemes specifically directed towards the provision of artificial nest sites and platforms The cases described hail from a wide geographic range including North and South America Europe Africa and elsewhere and from a broad spectrum of species groups such as the falcons accipiters eagles kites and many others This is a book of immense value not only to ornithologists and conservation biologists but also to engineers and managers involved in all kinds of building and environmental work in cities power and water works agriculture and forestry Serves as a good introduction to all aspects of the subject Focuses on successful adaptations of Raptors to environmental change Thundering Falcon Per K. Sørensen,Guntram Hazod,Gyalbo Tsering,2005 This publication represents the results of a detailed historical philological and anthropological study dedicated to the history and cult of Khra brug or the Thundering Falcon temple It constitutes the first serious inquiry into the location s history focusing exclusively on this major religious shrine and pilgrimage site which according to the Tibetan tradition is commonly regarded as the oldest Buddhist temple in Tibet The sanctuary located in the heart of the Yar lung Valley in southern Central Tibet which is the cradle of the Tibetan civilization and erstwhile homeland of the Tibetan kings was erected in the 7th century during the reign of the emperor Srong btsan sgam po d A D 649 Chronologically the temple may have been built immediately preceding the temple sanctuary of Lhasa which was erected by the same king the Ra sa i Phrul snang otherwise known as Jo khang and which is famed as the symbolic centre and national sanctum of Buddhist Tibet The main part of the book is made up of a number of primary sources that deal with Khra brug which are presented here in extensively annotated translations These include excerpts gleaned from various historiographical works as well as local documents One of these is a local pilgrims guide Khra brug gnas bshad dating from the early 20th century which forms the most important source in the book and which is also reproduced in facsimile Furthermore extensive surveys that were conducted in situ are presented gleaned from the wealth of local oral traditions that still prevail in Khra brug and in Yar lung They deliver significant new insights and thus enrich the data extracted from the written sources appreciably Together the source material and its comparative analysis open a door to the fascinating world behind the history of this temple a vista that from a modern perspective allows us to appraise and survey central issues related to politics and religion as well as a number of arcane cult traditions of the period from the 7th to 20th centuries Automotive Industries ,1961 Vols for 1919 include an Annual statistical issue title varies
