

Abstract: This study examined the effects of a 12-week, 3-day-per-week, 100-min-per-session, supervised, group-based, low-impact aerobically demanding dance program on the physical and psychological health of 100 sedentary, middle-aged women. The program was designed to be enjoyable and to include a variety of dance styles. The program was evaluated using a pretest-posttest design. The results showed that the program had a positive effect on the physical and psychological health of the participants. The program was found to be an effective and enjoyable way to improve physical and psychological health in sedentary, middle-aged women.

Types of indicators	Three categories: a) Outcome indicators: reflecting outcomes, progress and need to improve; b) Input indicators: reflect inputs; c) Process indicators: reflect activities
Indicators' functions	They are all designed to provide evidence to improve practice, build trust in school self-evaluation, support external self-evaluation
Measurement	They are all designed to measure the same aspect, most have data source within the school or by using the strategy
Reliability	High reliability generally good; a good example is the basic strategy that all schools should be using
